"Jefferson Marches On!" It is this picture of you, Jefferson students, ever striving toward higher ideals, greater school service, more worthy ambitions, that this, your book of memories, has endeavored to reproduce. We have tried to make your book a moving picture of school life as it is actually lived at Jefferson, with all of its enthusiasm, its informality, its seriousness in a word, its vibrant personality.

This is your book. Treasure it as a true picture of your happy days at Jefferson. Let it ever remind you that, as a Jefferson student, you must continue to "march on", Jefferson ideals ever your guide.

H JEFFERSON DOWN TOWN

Dedication

Within our school there is an intangible influence, a vital spark, an indefinable force, which unifies the student body and inspires the individual student to march ever onward. Certain qualities—sincere effort, faithful fellowship, hearty co-operation, generous friendship—have shaped this spirit which has raised our school to its present pinnacle; and you, students and faculty of Jefferson, are responsible for its very existence. And so—to the school spirit of Thomas Jefferson High School, the spirit of "Jefferson Marching On" to higher honors and greater service, we affectionately dedicate the Monticello of nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

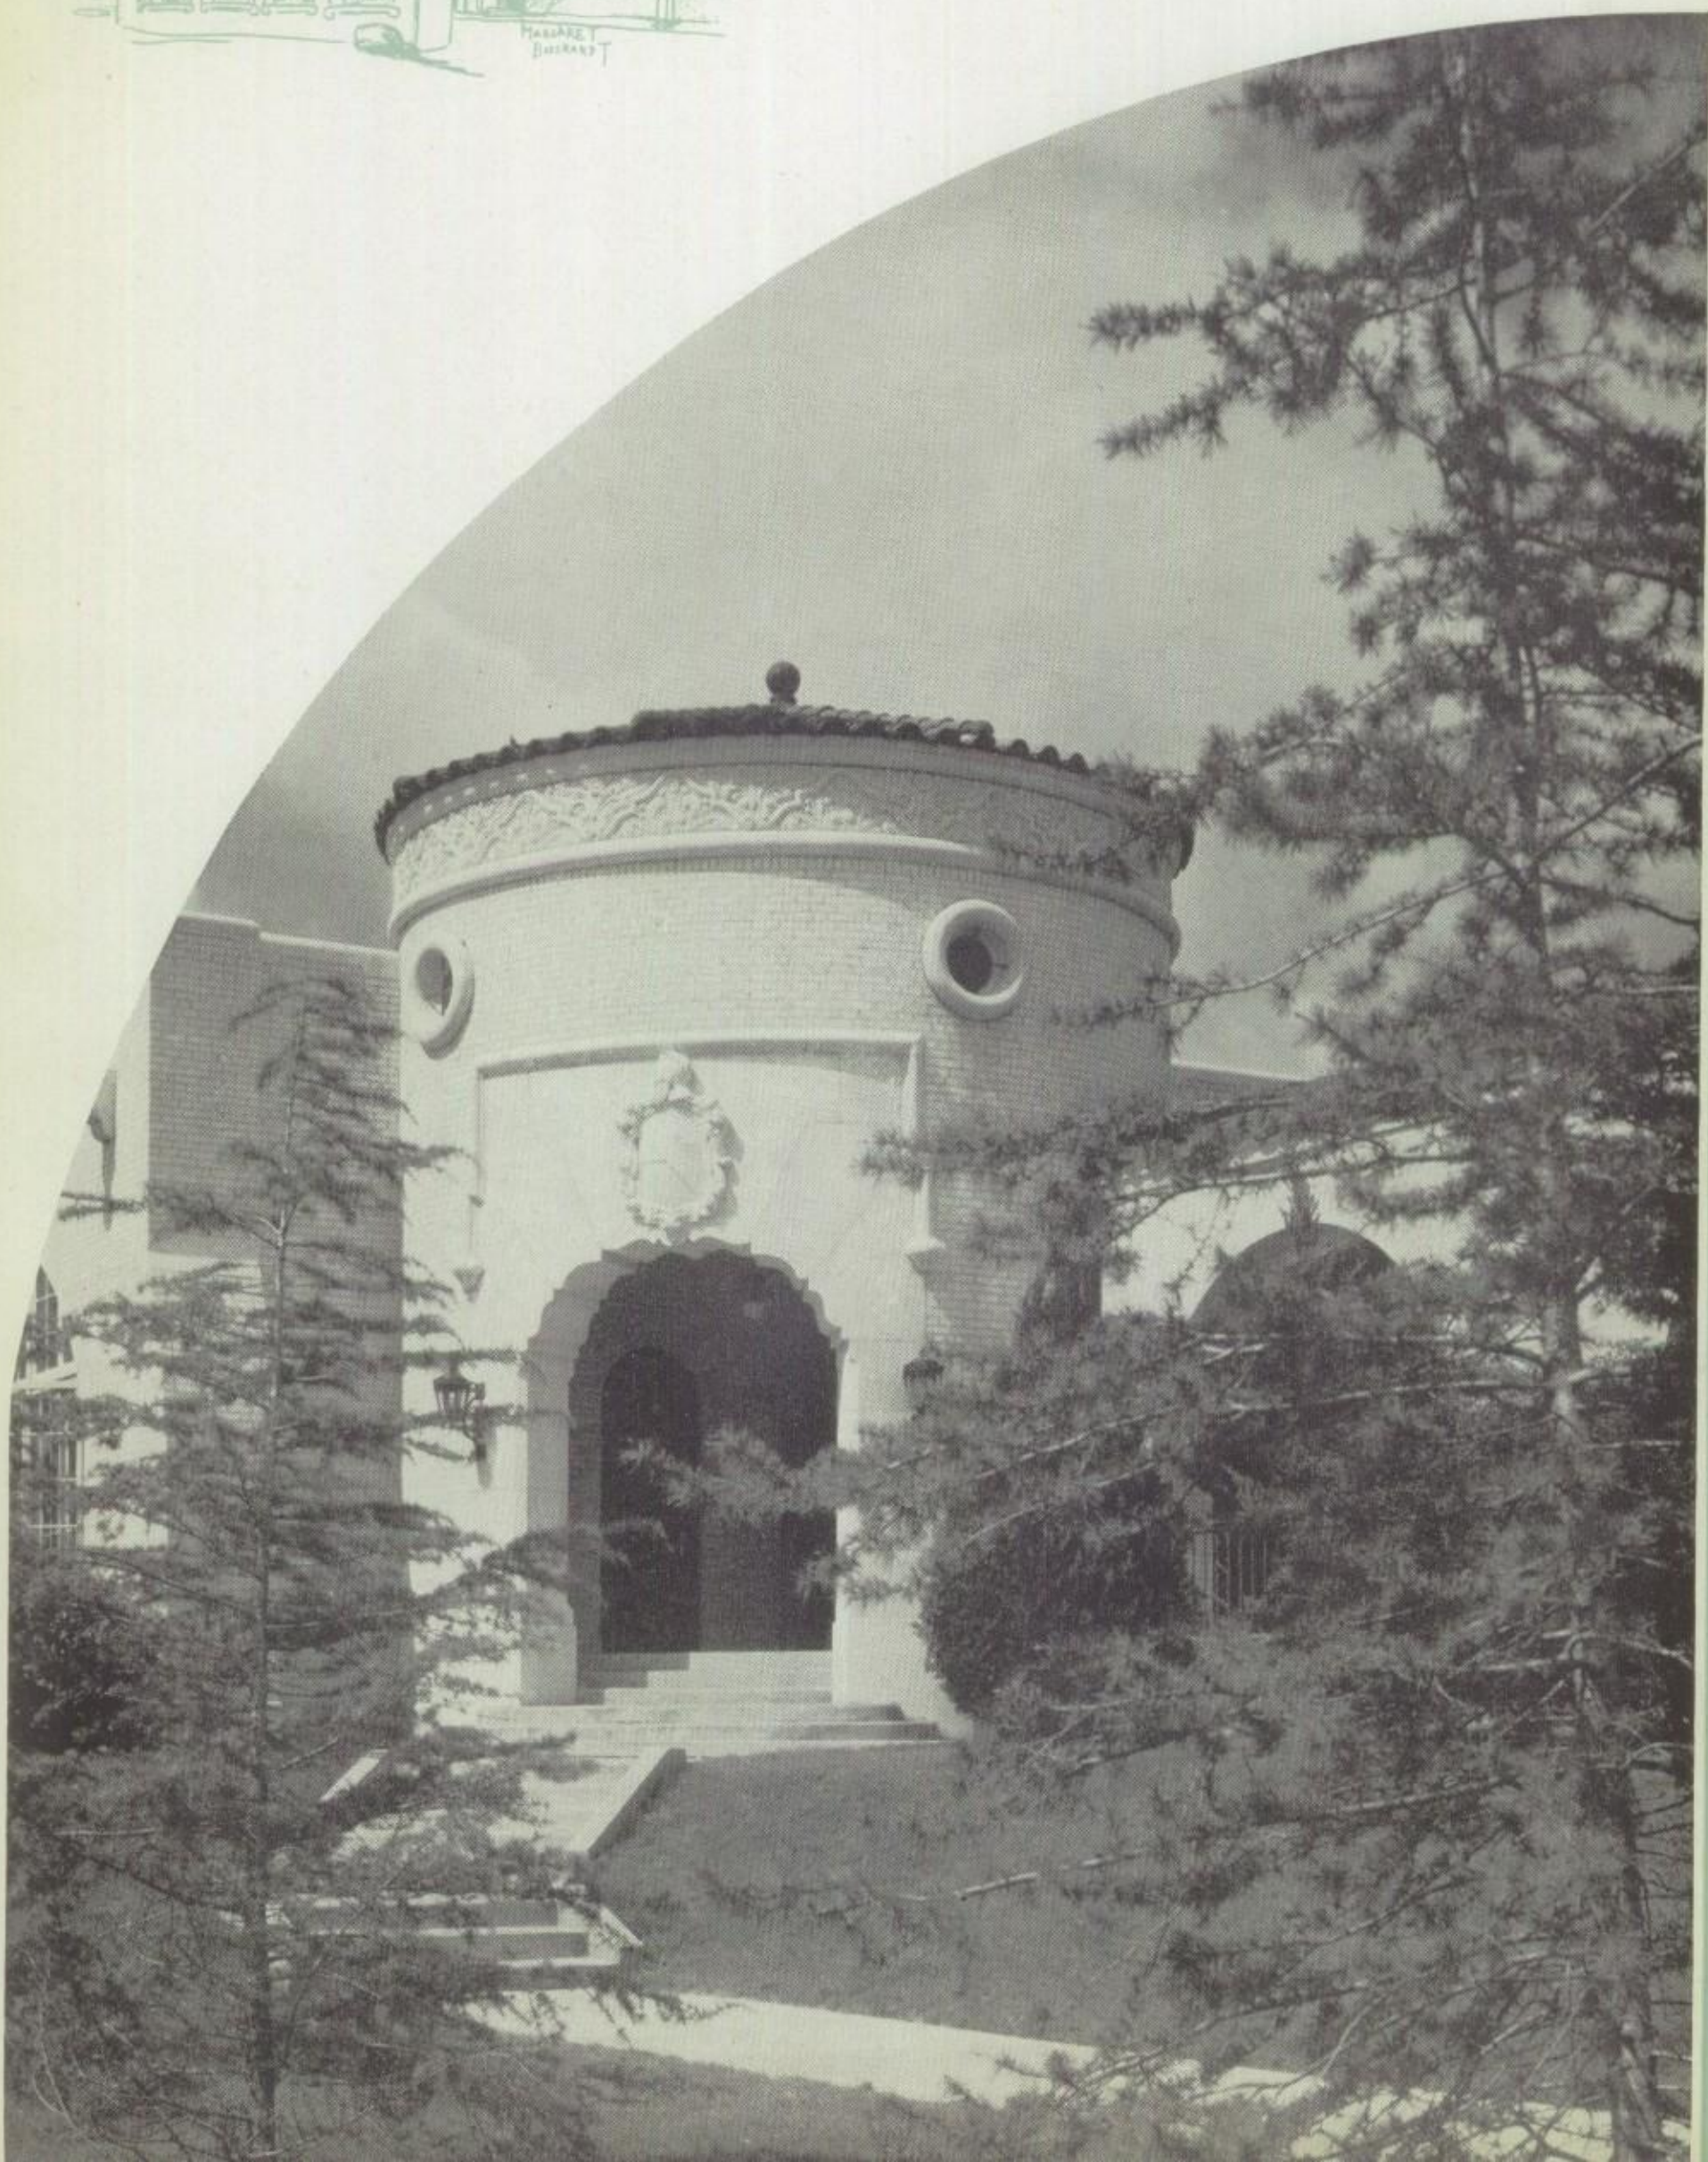

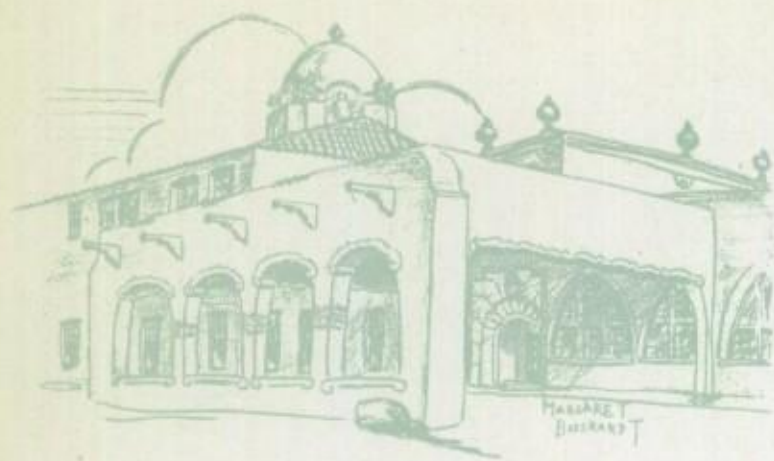

Harry Timney

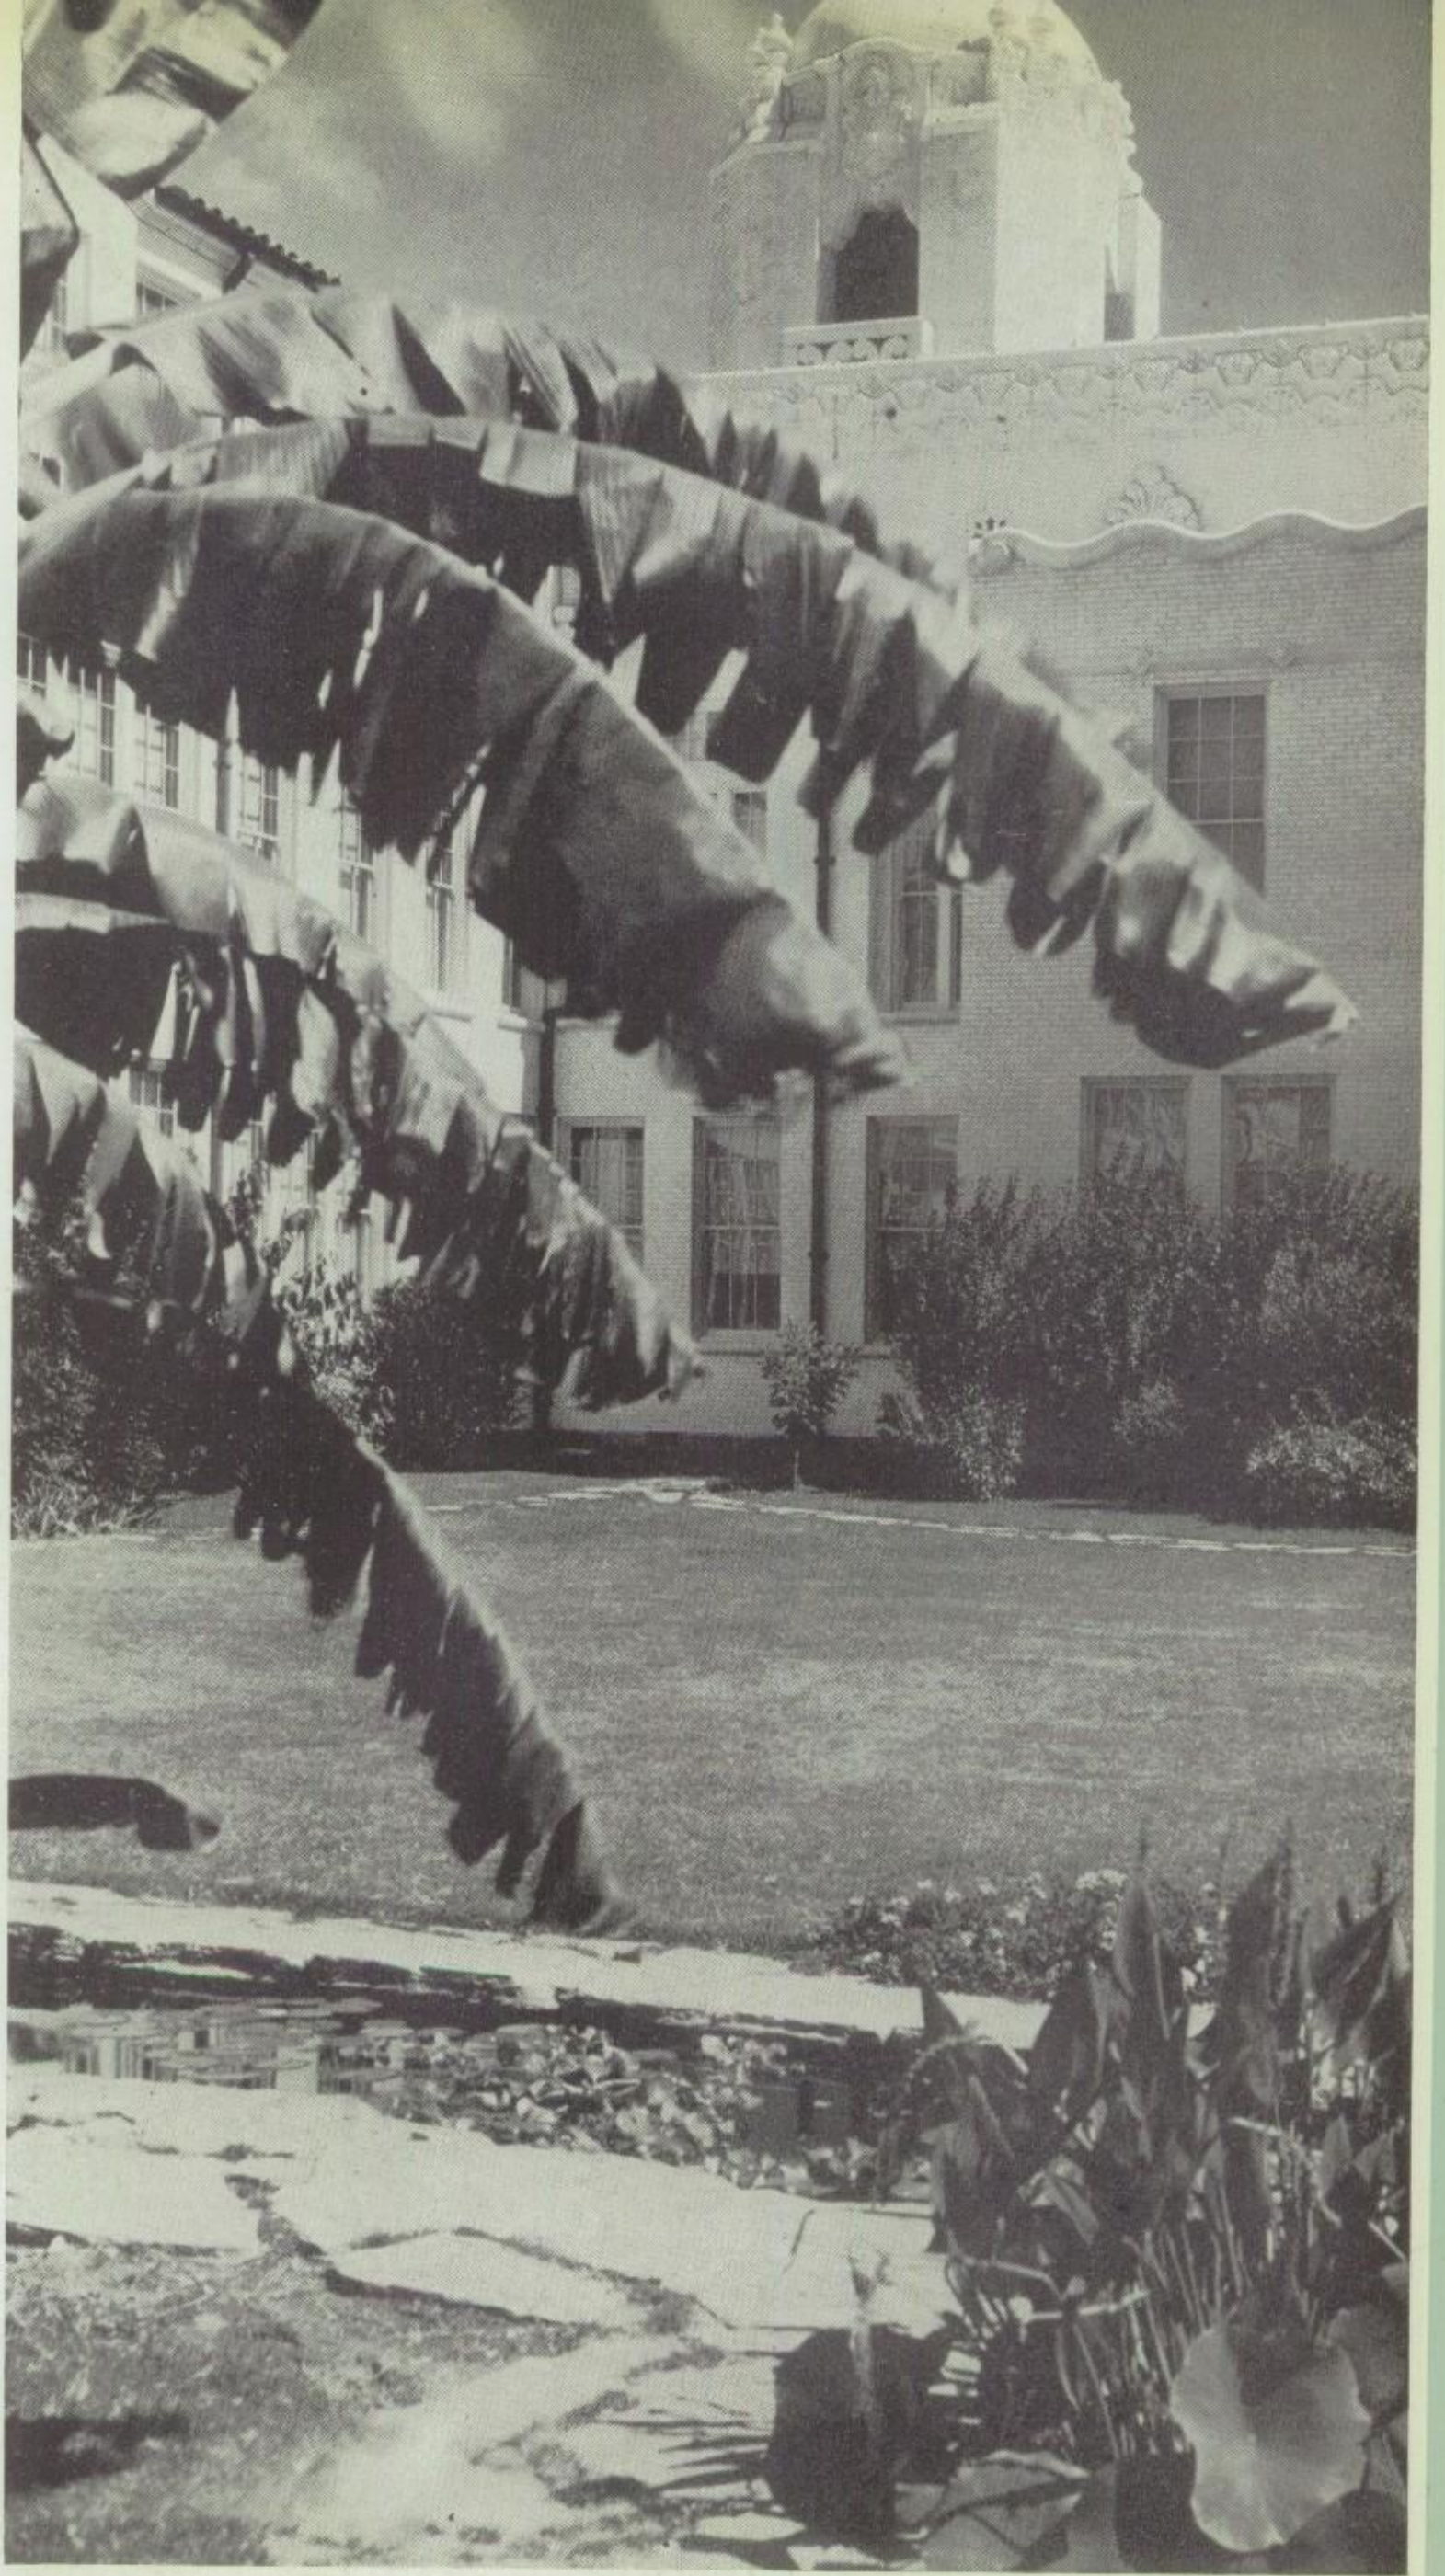

Smith,
To a guy I've known a long time I wish the best of luck.

The Jefferson coat of arms is in charming contrast with the atmosphere of an old Spanish fort, recaptured amid soft green foliage.

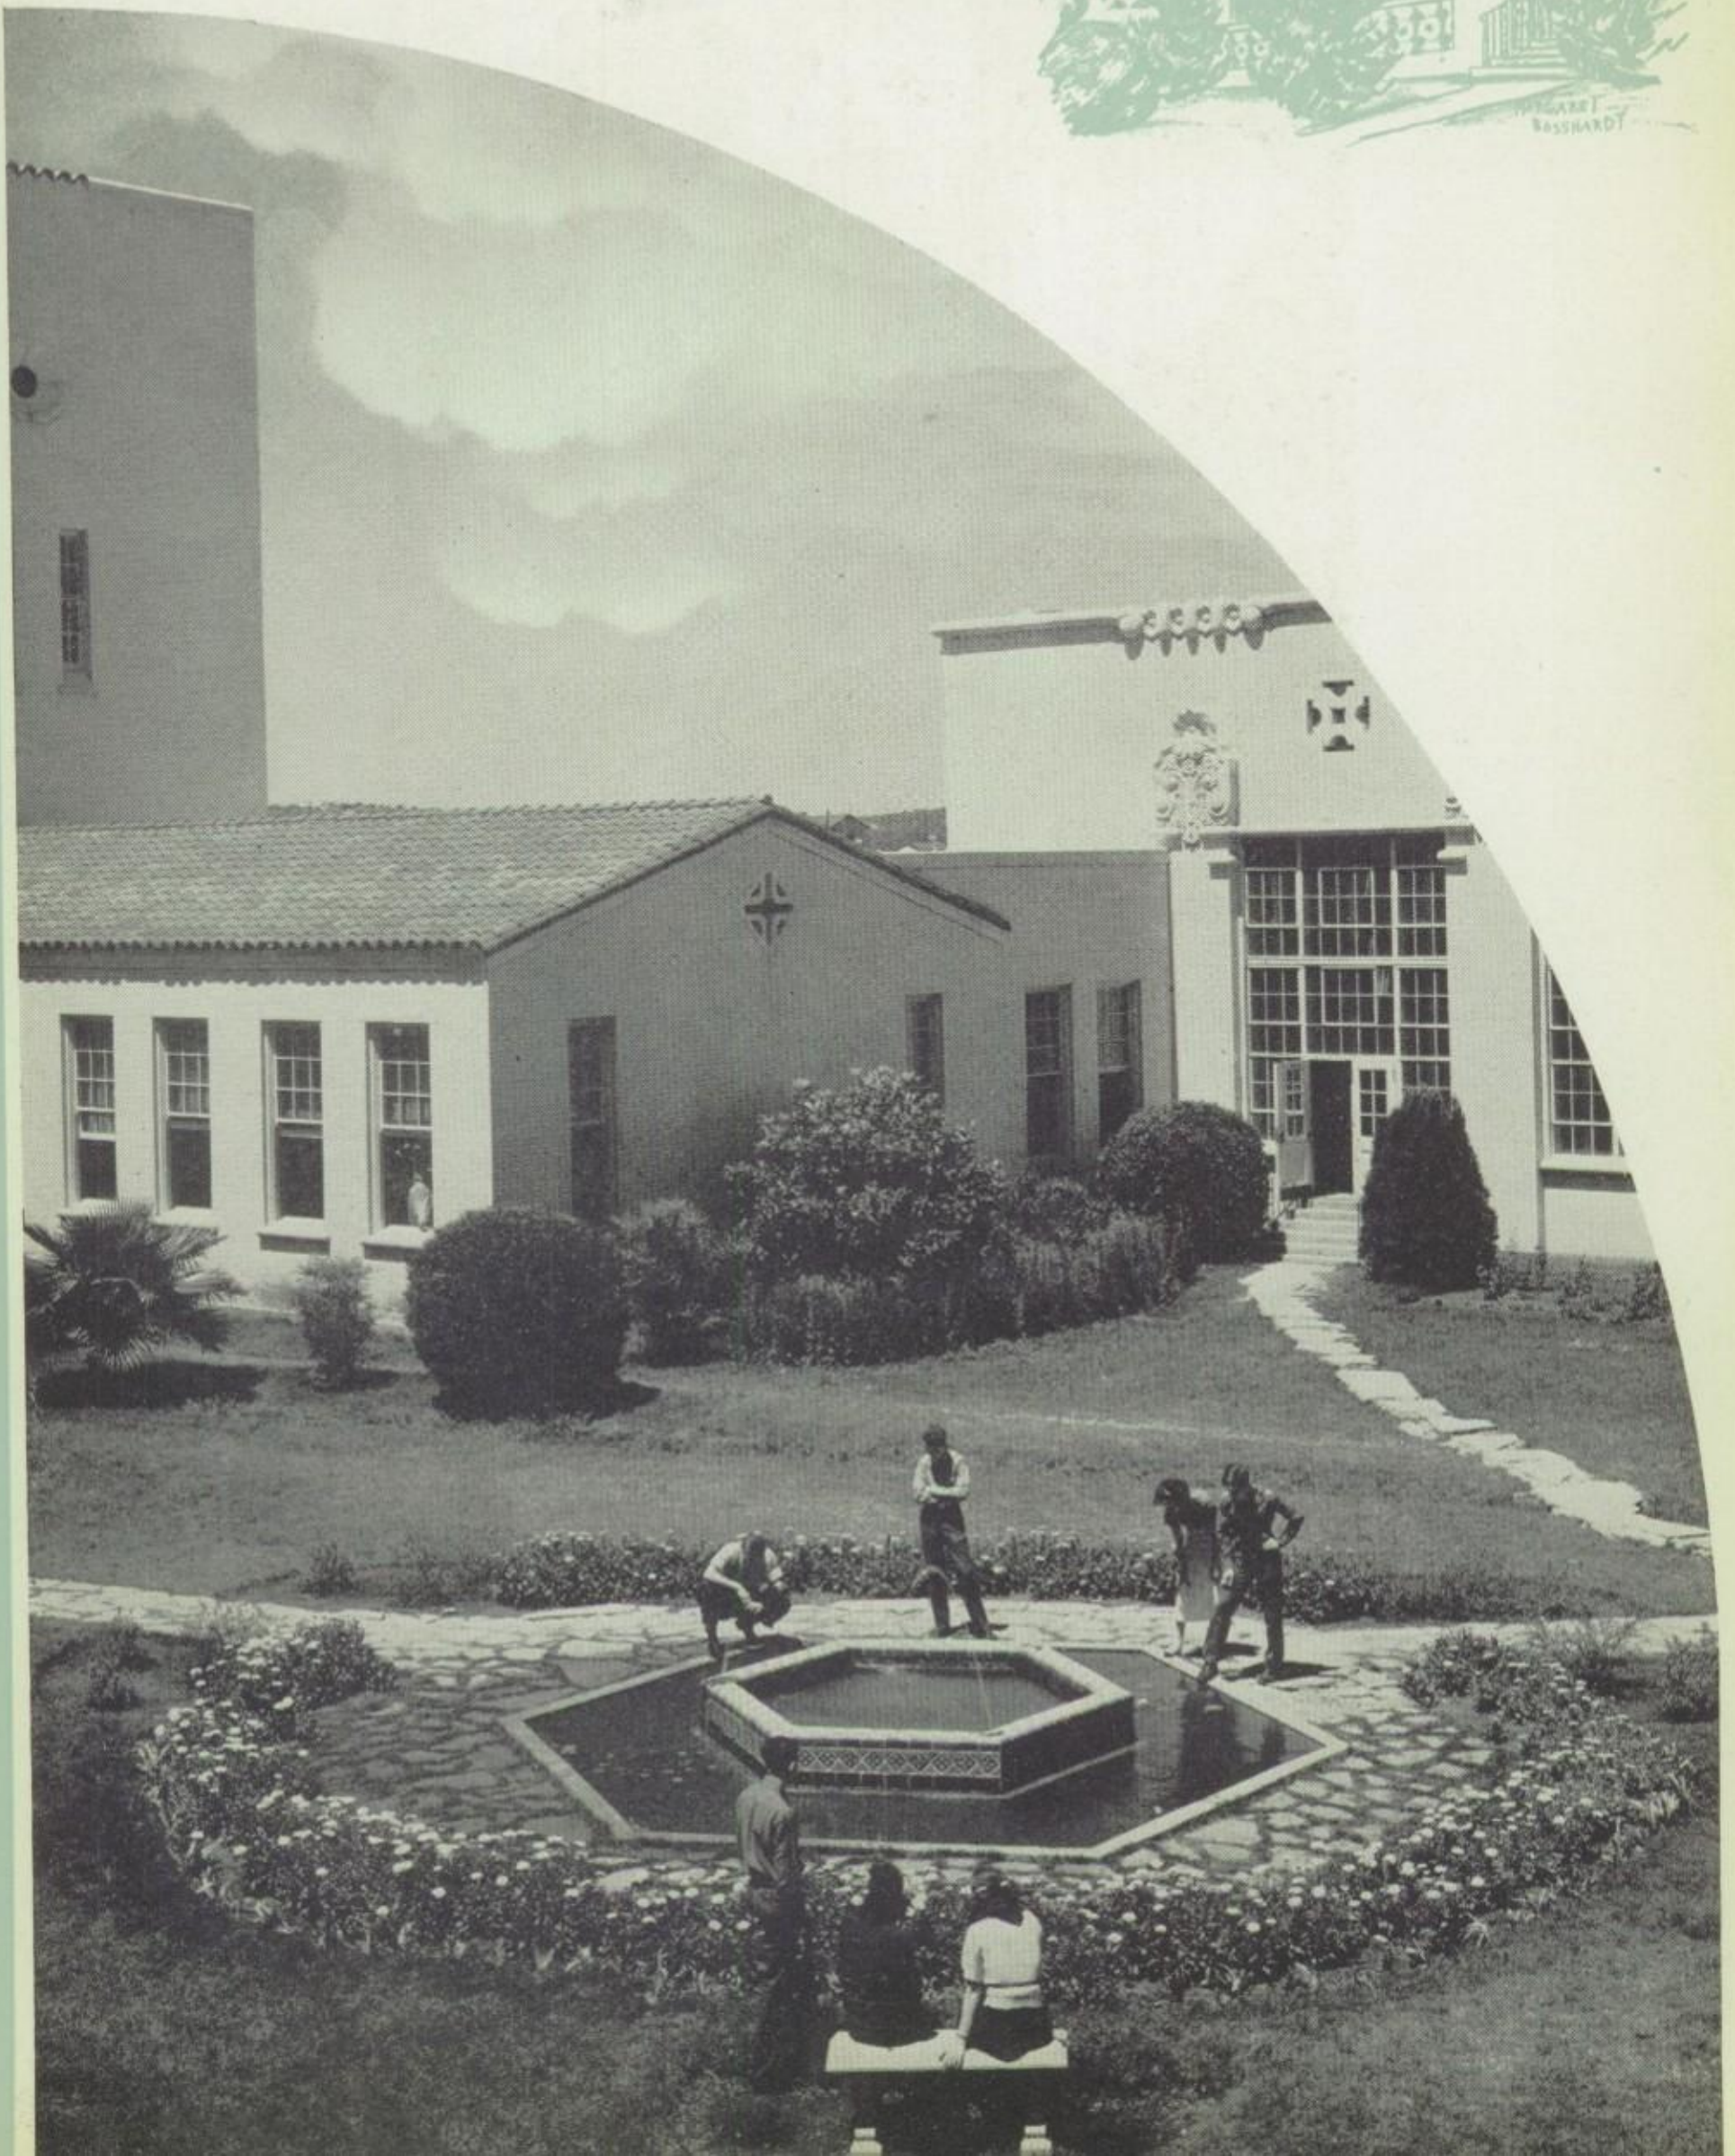

Sunlight dances around the intricate carvings on this enchanting entrance, surrounded by evergreens swaying in the breeze.

Fringed palms and colorful water lilies admire their reflections in the sparkling waters of the Skelton Patio pool.

Flagstone walks and fragrant flowers encircle the pond where gold fish and frogs are lazily sunning themselves in the Student Council Patio.

MR. THOMAS B. PORTWOOD

Superintendent, Senior Division

Strange, indeed, it seems that only seven short years ago our beautiful school was but a cherished dream in the heart of a man who made his vision become a reality. No better friend nor truer champion can youth and education find than the one who dreamed this dream and watched it materialize into a living, breathing school, a school that truly marches on.

A Great builder of Texas, Mirabeau B. Lamar, made the statement, since become famous, that "Education is the guardian genius of Democracy." Lamar undoubtedly had in mind the kind of democracy which had been advocated by Thomas Jefferson some years before. Jefferson said that to every individual in a democracy is given the power and the right to have a voice in the affairs of his country. Such a voice may build or it may destroy, depending on the ability and the desire of the citizen to make correct and honest decisions.

This beautiful school which bears the name of Thomas Jefferson should offer a proper training ground for the honest, fearless, and intelligent citizen of which Jefferson, and later Lamar, spoke. Democracy must depend on intelligence, and intelligence must be directed by being trained. A school marches on only when every student is a good student today and thereby prepares himself for good citizenship tomorrow.

Thomas B. Portwood

MR. T. GUY ROGERS

Principal

An invaluable friend as well as a trusted leader, personifying in his own gentle, yet forceful, character every one of Jefferson's fine ideals, he occupies a safe and sure place in our hearts. Words cannot adequately express the students' appreciation of the sympathetic assistance and generous co-operation of our well-loved principal, who ever inspires us to reach toward higher ideals. Marching on is not difficult with Mr. Rogers as our guide.

Louis,
I hope you all B the success that you so well deserve.
T. Guy Rogers.

Throughout your high school life, graduates of 1937, you have been truly a marching group of young people, ever moving on, unafraid, into new channels of activity, ever taking on new responsibilities, ever upholding the high ideals of our school, and even setting new standards. This yearbook adds an important chapter to the history of Thomas Jefferson High School, for within its pages you have left a valuable record of the work and play of the school. No theme could be more appropriate for the live, progressive young people of our school than the one which your yearbook has developed, "Jefferson Marches On."

It is my earnest hope that you continue to march on into the wider life you will find around you. As your high school has been enriched by your having lived in its halls and classrooms and on its campus and courts, may the world you are now entering be made richer by your marching spirit being a part of it.

T. Guy Rogers

It doesn't matter what your occupation may be after graduation from Thomas Jefferson; you will find that in order to keep up with the procession you must continually replenish your stock of knowledge. The mere fulfillment of the requirements for graduation is only the beginning. In order to be successful, to be in the forefront of progress, you must ever set for yourself higher ideals of service and always prepare yourselves for the changes that go with progress. In a word, if you would be ever "marching on", you will never consider education as being complete.

Sincerely yours,

A. J. Ivey

*Very best wishes
A. J. Ivey*

MR. A. J. IVEY
Vice-Principal

With his kindly understanding, his ever-ready helpfulness, his unfailing courtesy, with no thought of self, he gives unsparingly of his time and strength for the well-being and happiness of our students. He is indeed "a friend to man", not only in his office but also over the campus and the corridors. Jefferson would hardly be Jefferson without Mr. Ivey, our trusted Vice-Principal and Dean of Boys.

Beautiful Jefferson ! These words re-echo in the hearts of all who pass through her doors. As Jefferson marches on, may you and each succeeding class help enhance this beauty not only of the building and grounds but also of the student body. And may this beauty so affect your lives that the homes you help establish, the community you help build, and the lives you touch in any way may be more beautiful through your influence. With earnestness, sincerity, and faith may you seek and find opportunities for service and ultimately attain the beauty of a perfect life.

Sincerely yours,

Frances Smith

MISS FRANCES SMITH

Dean of Girls

Serene, tranquil, unperturbed, ever calm, our beloved Dean of Girls is never too hurried to listen to our troubles nor to find a solution for them. Her remarkable understanding, sweet patience, strong cultural influence, and rare sense of humor are a constant inspiration and a marvel to the entire student body. Fortunate indeed are all students who come within the scope of Miss Smith's splendid influence.

Jefferson in Class

Thomas Jefferson offers a rich course of study, taught by eighty classroom teachers to 2,200 students in sixteen departments.

Since 1935 the policy of separating language-composition from reading literature units has been followed in all courses of English. English III, English V, and English VII are courses in language-composition; English IV, English VI, English VIII, and English IX are courses in reading-literature. Credits in English III, English IV, English V, and English VI are required of all candidates for graduation. English VII, a college preparatory course, gives training in advanced composition; English VIII, also a college preparatory course, gives training in reading English literature; English IX, a non-college preparatory course, is a course in modern literature.

Journalism includes writing news, features, editorials, reports on speeches, interviews, advance and followups, sports, critical reports, literary articles, poetry, and advertisements. Copyreading, makeup, proofreading, headline style, and headline writing are also taught. Objectives aimed at include the gathering, evaluating, interpreting, and presenting of significant information objectively; writing creatively in so far as individual capacities permit; developing ethical character and good citizenship; reading and buying newspapers and periodicals intelligently; and learning the fundamentals of journalistic technique necessary for work on student publications.

The mathematics department offers eight credits. Algebra I gives a general view of directed numbers, the equation, and simple operations with algebraic symbols. Algebra II gives a general idea of the meaning of algebra, also definite and useful applications to every-day problems. Algebra III immediately follows Algebra II. Plane geometry reveals the interdependence of the branches of mathematics. Solid geometry and trigonometry may be taken the first half of the senior year; they are required for all who are to study engineering. Algebra IV, which must be taken the latter half of the senior year, gives a mastery of the mechanics of algebra and provides a foundation for the study of mathematics in college. About 1600 students enroll each year in this department.

Commercial work offers typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business arithmetic, business law, and business English. The purposes of the first four are vocational. Business English gives students the power of correct and forceful expression, both oral and written, in all business and social contacts. Business law teaches the prospective business person how to keep out of litigation and when to employ a lawyer. Commercial work instructs the student in a means of earning a living, thus improving his chances for greater success in business.

Jefferson in Class

The Latin department offers four years of Latin; beginners' Latin, Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil. The purposes of Latin are to develop a high standard of scholarship among its students and ability to read and understand Latin. The help given by Latin to the study of English grammar, English vocabulary, and English spelling is of prime importance. The Latin Club makes an award each year to the best student in each class; also Eta Sigma Phi medals, a national award, are presented to the "A" students in Virgil.

French gives training in pronunciation, reading, translating, grammar, prose-composition, and ability to use the language when asked questions. Students are trained to speak the language, to understand it when they hear it spoken, to understand and to appreciate the French people, and to understand the language in books, over the radio, and in motion pictures. French gives a good foundation for college French in the study of medicine, science, and other fields for which French is required.

Objectives of the three-year course in Spanish are as follows: the ability to pronounce correctly, to understand and to use the language orally; the ability to read in the language; such knowledge of the grammar of the language as is necessary for reading with comprehension; a knowledge of Spain, past and present, and a special interest in her people; a cultural background to make the student realize that in this community Spanish has a great social and commercial value.

German gives training in diction and reading, grammar, geography, history, literary appreciation, customs, sociology, music, poetry, dramatics, and good manners. The chief purpose is to make better citizens of the pupils. Students acquire ability to speak with German-speaking people, a reading knowledge of German for graduate work in the sciences and fine arts or for the doctorate of philosophy, interest in German art, music, literature, and science, an understanding of the present status of German people and our relations with them, and a better understanding of the structure and vocabulary of the English language.

The instrumental music classes include "A" Orchestra, "B" Orchestra, band, stringed instrument classes, and wind instrument classes. The purpose of these classes is to help the beginning student to learn to play his instrument and the advanced student to further his ability for playing. The student learns the value of co-operation. Playing music also aids in the development of fine character and of appreciation for good music and beauty.

Jefferson in Class

History courses offered are world history, English history, United States history, civics, American problems, and Texas history. The objectives are to develop in the pupil an active appreciation of his civic and social responsibilities, to lead him to understand clearly the larger significant movements through which peoples have developed their present stage of civilization, and to train him in habits of honest investigation and good-tempered discussion as a means of reaching conclusions about social and political problems.

Eleven courses are offered in science in thirty-one classes. Botany teaches the life principles involved in the propagation and growth of plants as well as the characteristics of the common plants. Chemistry and physics give pupils an understanding and appreciation of the relation of chemistry to daily life and the dependence of modern progress upon chemistry. Physical geography familiarizes the student with the structure of the earth and shows him how its physical features control the history of the human race. Physiology gives students a knowledge of the human body and the laws of health. Zoology, a pre-med course, teaches the laws controlling the life of animals and their adaptations to environment, and gives an appreciation of the animals' value to man.

Boys' physical education courses offer tennis, basketball, touch football, and handball during the fall term; handball, tumbling, boxing, softball, tennis, and golf are the spring term subjects. Sophomores are given special instructions in technique and skill by the use of drills and lead-up games. Juniors and seniors are also instructed in skills, but they put in more time in playing under actual game conditions. The value of physical education lies in the carry-over from the class to after-school and leisure activities. Boys not in physical education classes are in the major sports and in the R. O. T. C.

Girls' physical education activities are offered throughout the day. Each girl is required by the state law of 1930 to participate in these activities for three years. Tennis, golf, archery, tumbling, dancing, riflery, volley-ball, and baseball are offered. Tennis promotes quickness and alertness; golf, perfect co-ordination; archery, accuracy and good posture; tumbling, team work and muscle co-ordination; dancing, grace and poise; riflery, accuracy; volley-ball and baseball, team work and co-ordination. All of these sports overlap in their purpose, but each contributes some one individual, enriching quality.

The vocal music courses include chorus, harmony, and glee club. To learn how to sing easily and freely, to learn many worthwhile songs, to develop an appreciation of the best in radio and screen music, and to create a permanent taste for music—these are the objectives of the chorus classes. Harmony teaches chords and the manner in which music is put together; it gives an appreciation of harmonic beauty through acquaintance, and it prepares young musicians for entering a conservatory. Glee Club trains superior voices and musical talent in perfect singing and artistic rendition of part music; also it trains singers to represent the school artistically in public.

The courses in homemaking train the students to be homemakers. In Cookery I girls study the relation of food to health, the classifying of foodstuffs, and preparing and serving breakfasts and luncheons. Cookery II deals with planning and serving of dinners. Emergency meals, food preservation, and budgeting are also taught. Cookery III includes writing menus, planning, preparing, and serving attractive and nutritional meals, using four different types of service, entertaining for special occasions, and using the simplest methods of serving. The students of Cookery IV study markets, selection of food, food laws, and food inspection. Field trips are also made.

The speech department offers debate, dramatics, play production, stage-craft, and public speaking. The course in debate gives students a knowledge of and practice in argumentation. As a course to train in the search for facts and the presentation of suitable arguments to bear them out there is no better practice. The study of dramatics is unexcelled for development of poise and co-operation and for training in the ability to interpret character effectively. Stage-craft teaches the mechanics of the stage and the art of expressing beauty in the building of scenic effects.

Group of student assistants who give library service by checking books and magazines, mending and shelving books, and helping in many other ways with the routine of book circulation.

Lower Picture

Students who helped during the fall term to check library attendance accurately at every period of the day. This work is of value in that about four hundred and fifty students study in the library at each of the six periods.

Parent-Teachers' Association

Thomas Jefferson Parent-Teachers' Association has enjoyed this year of work with the theme, "Character Growth — A Home and School Responsibility". Our membership of 460 members has brought a large group of interested parents in close co-operation with school and teachers. We have helped in the welfare work of our school; with the aid of the Student Council, which collected a large amount of clothing, we helped two other schools needing our help as well as the free Tubercular Clinic. We also gave the latter $50.00 for the milk and ice fund. In October we accompanied the football train to Austin and provided food for the students both going and coming. In November we had Parents' Night, starting with dinner in the cafeteria, followed by Open House, at which time parents visited teachers in their rooms. A splendid program by the orchestra and dramatics department was given to several hundred parents. In December our home economics girls were hostesses at a lovely tea, and our Choral Club entertained us. We celebrated Jefferson's birthday in February with a luncheon, at which there were 105 present, including all past presidents. In April our Army mothers were our hostesses and provided a splendid program. On April 30 we entertained the P. T. A. Council meeting and luncheon. In May our Student Council brought us a beautiful program in honor of mothers. In June we awarded $2.50 each to the two advisories whose parents had 100% membership in the association. In the opinion of the students and the faculty, the P. T. A. is of inestimable value to Jefferson.

Smith,
 You are one swell fella and you have made a good vice-president of the Delta Phi. If you ever need a friend you can call on me. I hope you have lots of luck. Billy Clark.

Junior Class

October ... rapping gavel ... hubbub of first junior meeting hushes ... spirit of enthusiasm still prevails ... tenseness as votes are counted ... congratulations are in order ... class has new officers ... marches on into its second year at Jefferson ... proud of its capable sponsors ... January ... eager students make ready the gym ... ping-pong tables ... ouija boards ... cards ... radio ... scrumptious chocolate squares ... snowwhite mountains of angel-food ... oceans of ice cream ... first junior social a huge success A week later ... eager excitement descends upon the school ... "What are you going to wear?" ... "Who will be Belle?" ... hopeful whispers ... announcement of Junior Hall of Fame ... Perkins ... Burney ... Rollett ... Gulley ... Vaughn ... Kinney ... Plaza ... Donnell ... Netting ... Atwood ... Thrift New term ... new classes ... a calm comes over the class ... then a boom begins ... graduation draws near ... juniors plan farewell to seniors ... most talked-of event of the year ... gay new frocks ... white linen suits ... happy students swaying to the subtle rhythm of the orchestra ... balloons floating down from the ceiling ... Junior-Senior prom June ... feeling of sadness ... teary eyes ... farewells ... sweet pea bouquets ... juniors eagerly strive to beautify auditorium for seniors ... Baccalaureate ... all under the supervision of the Junior Class ... Cooperation ... the juniors get things done ... "Help!" ... the juniors are always ready to answer that call ... always anxious ... to assist in anything that will further the development of Thomas Jefferson ... Spirit ... watch those juniors go ... The class of '38 has set a new record ... for achievement ... leadership ... athletics ... no wonder the Junior Class is such a success!

"Mite-y" models to mighty mansions grow.

The Architectural Club... modern... promotes good fellowship in drawing classes... fun... amusement... learning.... Model houses studied... Spanish... Colonial... English... modern.... Boys realize difficulties in planning real houses... Smell of new lumber... ringing of hammers... club visits new houses... learns details of construction... visits new hospital at Fort Sam Houston... makes an inspection tour of Masonic Temple... sees the new post office.... But club not all technical work... a great deal of fun, too... over-night outing at Camp Alzafar in April... picnics... initiation of new members... comradeship... all make an interesting year for future architects of San Antonio.

Barrie Dramatic Club

Drama...fellowship...co-operation!... Three words present purpose of this organization... Miss Ethel Orrell... charming sponsor... with her sweet personality and knowledge of dramatics... promotes interests of club.... Many members perform in club programs and school shows.... Outstanding dramatic event... the Yuletide Assembly.... Social activities... grander and more enjoyable than ever before... the first of the new term... a masquerade party at Margaret Jeffrey's... a party honoring mascots of club at home of Prestyne Hocker... and another, a Christmas party at Margaret's.... A successful event financially... the candy sale.... This entire term, a great success... with a prosperous future anticipated.

Socials...two were held by members during spring term... good food... real enjoyment...genuine pleasure.... "How interesting!"... "Why, I didn't know that!"... These remarks are frequently heard at the meetings... Each member looks forward to every meeting...as each knows that new facts... will be discovered.... Enlightening discussions...entered into by all members... and led by Mr. May...inspiring sponsor....The club marches further toward its goal... to show students that science is one of the most intriguing subjects in school.

Orchestra

Jefferson couldn't do without her orchestra... always ready and willing... to play at all assemblies... at all shows... to fill in when needed... Orchestra for this year particularly outstanding at Entertainers' Show... R. O. T. C. play, "College Daze"... Fathers' Night... Senior Frolic... and at K. T. S. A. on the Jefferson Day Program... Members of the orchestra are to be complimented on their splendid school service... There are fifty-four musicians in A Orchestra under the splendid leadership of Mr. Jerome Zoeller... In November... concert at Beacon Hill Elementary school... and another performance at Incarnate Word College in February... Thrills, excitement... orchestra makes trip to Kingsville for state contest... brings back cup for first place... two weeks later wins second place and scarlet ribbon in Federated Clubs' contest... No organization in school gives finer service.

All instruments are poised as Mr. Zoeller raises his baton.

Presidents' Council

In 1935...the elected heads of all clubs in Jefferson...were organized into a group...known as the Presidents' Council.... These presidents... immediately set about writing a constitution.... This, with a few changes... was adopted in 1936... revised slightly in 1937.... The president of the Student Council is automatically president of the Presidents' Council.... The other officers are elected by popular vote of the group.... The aims of the Council are to establish a basis upon which all organizations may meet...to bring about the strengthening of the spirit of co-operation...to help the clubs to work together.... No finer chance for service has any school organization than the Presidents' Council...organization still very new...but has splendid chance in the coming year to work out its aims and purposes and to strengthen its determination to unify the clubs of Jefferson in their school service and their activities.

The presidents are installed at the beautiful candle-light ceremony.

Battalion Headquarters

Proficient citizens... qualified to be leaders among men... possessed of stern and inflexible character... seeing the right side of things... believing in discipline at all times—these are the purposes of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.... Leaders are chosen for service, dependability, willingness, and ability to work.... Yet without the co-operation of every man in the battalion... without the constant dependability and earnest desire to learn, which is uppermost in every cadet's mind... the high rating and high honors earned by the R. O. T. C. would have been impossible.... At Federal Inspection... the Corps received excellent rating... the red star... and above-superior class.

R. O. T. C. Band

Trooping the line, setting the step for all parades and reviews, furnishing the music for every R. O. T. C. activity — all these duties are cheerfully performed by the members of the R. O. T. C. Band of Thomas Jefferson High School.

Led by Captain Goodwin, Lieutenants McRoberts and Jarrott, and their efficient non-commissioned officers, these musicians practice daily their formations and their stirring military airs.

How immaculate in personal appearance are these fine boys, their shining instruments reflecting the sunlight as the band proudly heads the battalion! High standards are easy to attain with weekly inspections of personal appearance and instruments to spur the boys on to the winning of the three medals each week. In addition to the drummers and the trumpet players splendid work is done by the musicians who play the clarinets, saxophones, flute, oboe, horns, trombones, basses, and baritones.

Drill Team

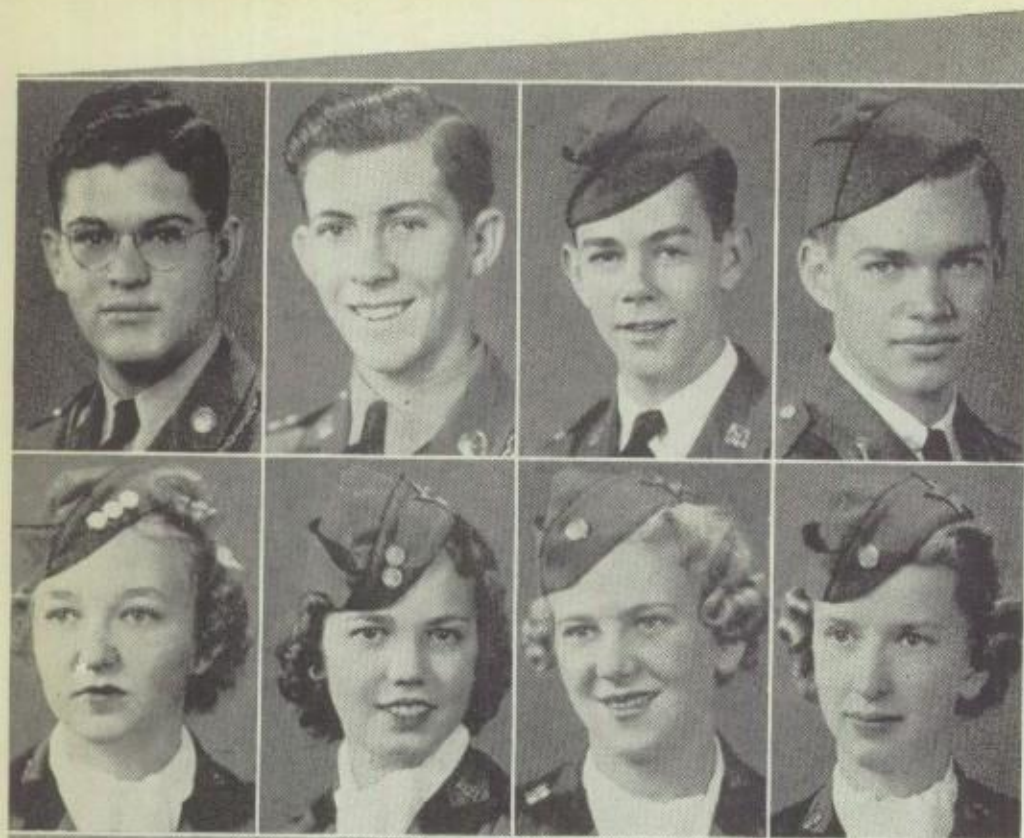

Thomas Jefferson High School's Drill Team is an honor company composed of those cadets who voluntarily represent the school on various occasions and who willingly engage in extra practice three mornings each week. In addition to the first drill team there is a second, those members of the first drill team who are absent or late a certain number of times being placed on the second drill team temporarily.

The two most important activities for 1936-37 were a pilgrimage to the Alamo and a competition with San Jacinto High School of Houston. Jefferson is very proud of the two silver loving cups brought back by our boys — one for the best-drilled company, the other for the highest number of company points won.

At the end of the school year a bar was awarded to all members of the first drill team, and medals were given to the drill team officers.

The bugler blares out "Assembly". Cadets come streaming down to the parade grounds. A few tense seconds of bustle and activity pass. The command "Pass in Review" is given; the band begins to play; four hundred and nineteen cadets step off with the left foot and bring their rifles to right shoulder arms as twenty-five officers give out commands. Snowwhite gloves flash back and forth. Sunlight glitters on polished brass. The Thomas Jefferson Junior R. O. T. C. passes in review before its Lieutenant-Colonel and the Staff! One, two, three, four, one, two, three, four — they march in perfect unison to the rhythmic beat of drums, each company's proud banner rippling in the breeze above the evenly-flowing olive-drab mass of cadets.

Those on the sidelines, however, ones with vision, see each marching cadet as a man, a real man, an idealistic man, one who desires knowledge and a spirit of leadership. They see in him an inspiring promise for the future of America.

They see him as a man in the making, whose character is being strictly disciplined to obey his superiors, to execute their orders promptly, to perform his own duties to the best of his ability, doing his best and giving his best at all times. These watchers realize that his disciplined character will not be confined solely to his military life, but will be with him ever throughout his private life.

Who is responsible for this performance? Is it the officers? Is it the lieutenant-colonel? Is it the major? Is it the non-commissioned officers? Is it the cadets in ranks? Who really makes the R. O. T. C.? Not anyone alone! Without the co-operation of every man in the battalion, without the constant dependability and earnest desire to learn, which is uppermost in the mind of every cadet from the newest recruit to the highest officer, the high rating of the R. The Thomas Jefferson R. O. T. C. Battalion is in its sixth year. Yet never before has it won such high honors as it now proudly holds. This year has seen the addition of one new company, Company E. It has also seen the rank of the battalion commander raised from major to lieutenant-colonel. The annual R. O. T. C. dance, at which time the officers and sponsors were presented, holds the distinction of being the most enjoyable dance of the year. The R. O. T. C. play, "College Daze", presented on February fifth, was one of the most successful plays ever given in the school auditorium. The annual R. O. T. C. banquet in November of this year had the distinction of being broadcast over radio.

With all these achievements and honors, however, the R. O. T. C. would have failed of its purpose had it not made progress along the lines of military science and tactics.

Therefore the greatest accomplishment of the R. O. T. C. was voiced when Colonel Keys, the inspecting officer, turned toward Captain Joseph B. McShane at the annual Federal Inspection and said, "The cadets are in perfect shape. In my opinion they are twenty per cent better than they were last year. They fully deserve the highest rating that I can give them." These words of praise came at the end of the inspection for which the entire school had turned out to honor the R. O. T. C.

No achievement, however, is attained without great effort. There must always be present a great amount of honest study and work. The R. O. T. C. Drill Team is the very backbone of the Battalion. The Officers' and Non-Commissioned Officers' Clubs are also responsible for its success. Needless to say, the sponsors, with their bright blue and red uniforms, are an inspiration to the entire unit.

No organization is better than its leaders, and the R. O. T. C. of Thomas Jefferson is no exception. Behind this year's success stand our three leaders: Captain Joseph B. McShane, our Commandant; Mr. T. Guy Rogers, our Principal, whose interest has been an inspiration to every cadet in the battalion; and Colonel Felix Emmanuelli, whose sincere judgment and able decisions have been responsible for the rapid progress of the city high schools' R. O. T. C. units.

To these leaders, to the faculty, to the student body of the school, and to the countless others who have been an inspiration and help to the R. O. T. C., the cadets offer their deepest appreciation and thanks. Their sincerest wish is that they may bring renown to the school by the winning of higher and greater honors in the future. With these many factors behind the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, Jefferson will truly "march on".

Football

Continuing their annual football hocus pocus over San Antonio Tech, the Jeff gridsters defeated the former 7-6 in a night game played October 26. Both teams scored early in the first quarter, Lane kicking the point after touchdown, which spelled victory for the Mustangs. Ball, Zander, Reeves, and Lane starred in the backfield, while Lozano and Mabrito were standouts of the line in Jeff's first district battle. A damaging, but unusual, highlight of the game was the 120 yards the Mustangs were assessed in penalties.

Coming from behind late in the final quarter, the Mustangs eased out a 12-7 victory over the Harlandale Indians, November 2, at Eagle Field. An inspired band of Redmen made things look dark for the Jeff stalwarts until Reeves topped his first quarter touchdown with another in the fourth period to shove the Mustangs ahead.

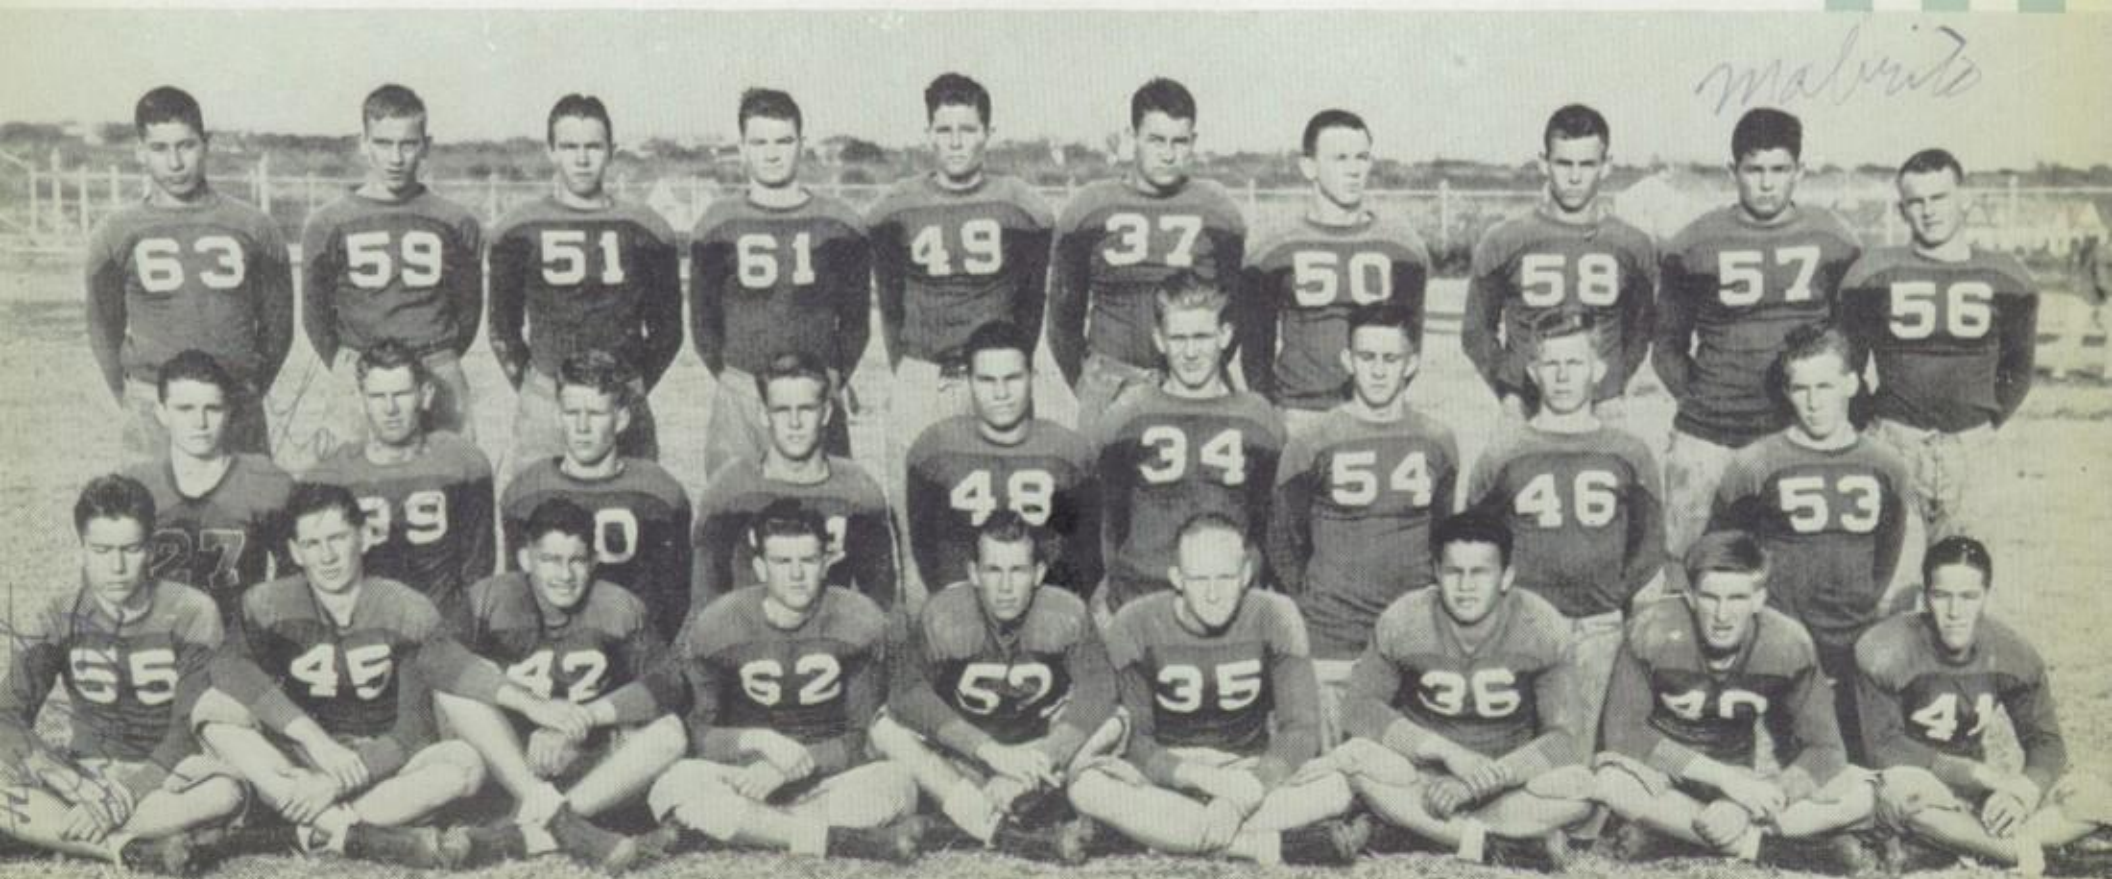

With two district games to their credit the Hamilton charges defeated the Austin High Maroons 21 to 19 in Austin's Memorial Stadium on November 7. The battle was nip and tuck, the winning touchdown coming four minutes before the final gun. Numerous pass interceptions kept the game moving at a hot pace. Lane, Reeves, and Zander were the spearheads of the Mustang attack, Lozano and Morello playing staunch games in the line.

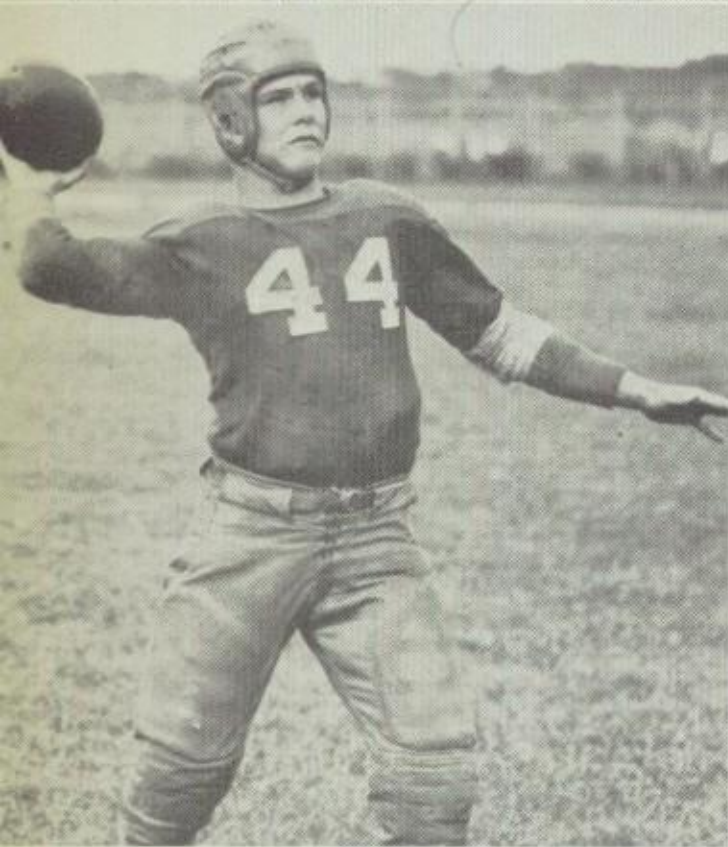

Coaches Hamilton and Burnett watch every step of the game.

Football

The Tivy Antlers swooped down from the hills of Kerrville to hand the Jeff gridsters their first district setback in a night game November 13. The 20-0 loss dashed all hopes for a district championship against the rocks. A strong pass attack gained nothing for the Nags, as the superb running of Holbrook and McCaleb proved too much for the Mustang defense.

Football

The thundering Mustangs trampled the Brackenridge Eagles in their annual "Turkey Day" game 13-12 at Eagle Field before a large crowd. At the close of the first half the Eagles led the Jeff stalwarts 12-0, both touchdowns climaxing pass interceptions. In the second half, however, the Nag passes were withheld, and a fiery spree of ground-gaining produced two touchdowns and winning points, Bub Reeves plunging over into pay dirt each time.

John Berry Football manager

Besides Reeves, Ball and Lane played exceedingly well, sending the crowd again and again into excited spasms. Mabrito, Holder, Lozano, and Dempsey performed miracles in the line, holding the Brackenridge running attack to a minimum.

Although they were not district champions, the Mustangs enjoyed a successful season, winning the city championship with 4 victories and 1 defeat.

Basketball

Favored to drop Brackenridge in the opening basketball game, the Jeff basketeers fell down and were upset 23-22 in a close contest. In the second and third rounds of district play, however, the Mustangs soundly trounced the Eagles twice, once 45-22 when Mike Ball sank 21 points and again 37-28 when Ball pushed 12 points through the basket.

The Lanier Voks gave very little competition to the rampant Ponies in the district race, the Mustangs capturing all three games. In the first contest Ball and Zander swished 11 and 10 points, respectively, through the basket, giving Jeff the game 23-27. In the second meeting Kinney rang up 28 points for a season record, the Ponies winning easily 54-33. The series final with the Voks favored the Jeff cagers 34-28.

Basketball

Three games with Tech closed the city basketball race, the Mustangs taking two and dropping one. Engineering a late game rally, the Jeff crew won the first game 35-29, with Kinney touching the basket for 12 points. In spite of Ball's 15 counters in the second meeting with Tech, the Mustangs lost 43-35, but in the series final the Mustangs again broke into the winning column with a 45-21 victory. This game closed the 1937 season with the Mustangs recording 7 wins against 2 setbacks for the city championship.

Mustang tracksters continued their amazing winning of meets this season. They have never lost a city, district, or regional meet. This season they defended seven meets.

In their first meet of the season the Jeff tracksters were nosed out in the Border Olympics at Laredo by 1 point. Joe Bartlett skipped hurdles in the time of 16.1 to pick up five Mustang points, and Bill Trager hurled the 16 pound shot put nearly 44 feet for another first place.

In a meet consisting of Jeff, Lanier, Harlandale, Alamo Heights, and Tech, Kissinger showed promising form and sprinted first in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Other winners of note were Burnett, Trager, and Fraser.

Eight records fell in the Cameron meet as Jefferson took third place. Bill Curtis, Pete Nay, and Bill Trager all captured seconds in their respective entries — Curtis in the 440, Nay in the discus, and Trager in the shot put.

Alfred Hawley, high jumper, was not on the track team but worked hard all season... Henry Coffman, and Lester Conaway, two fine junior hurdlers... Joe Bartlett, one of the best hurdlers Jefferson has ever produced.

Track

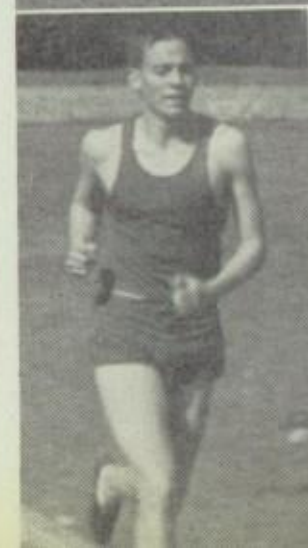

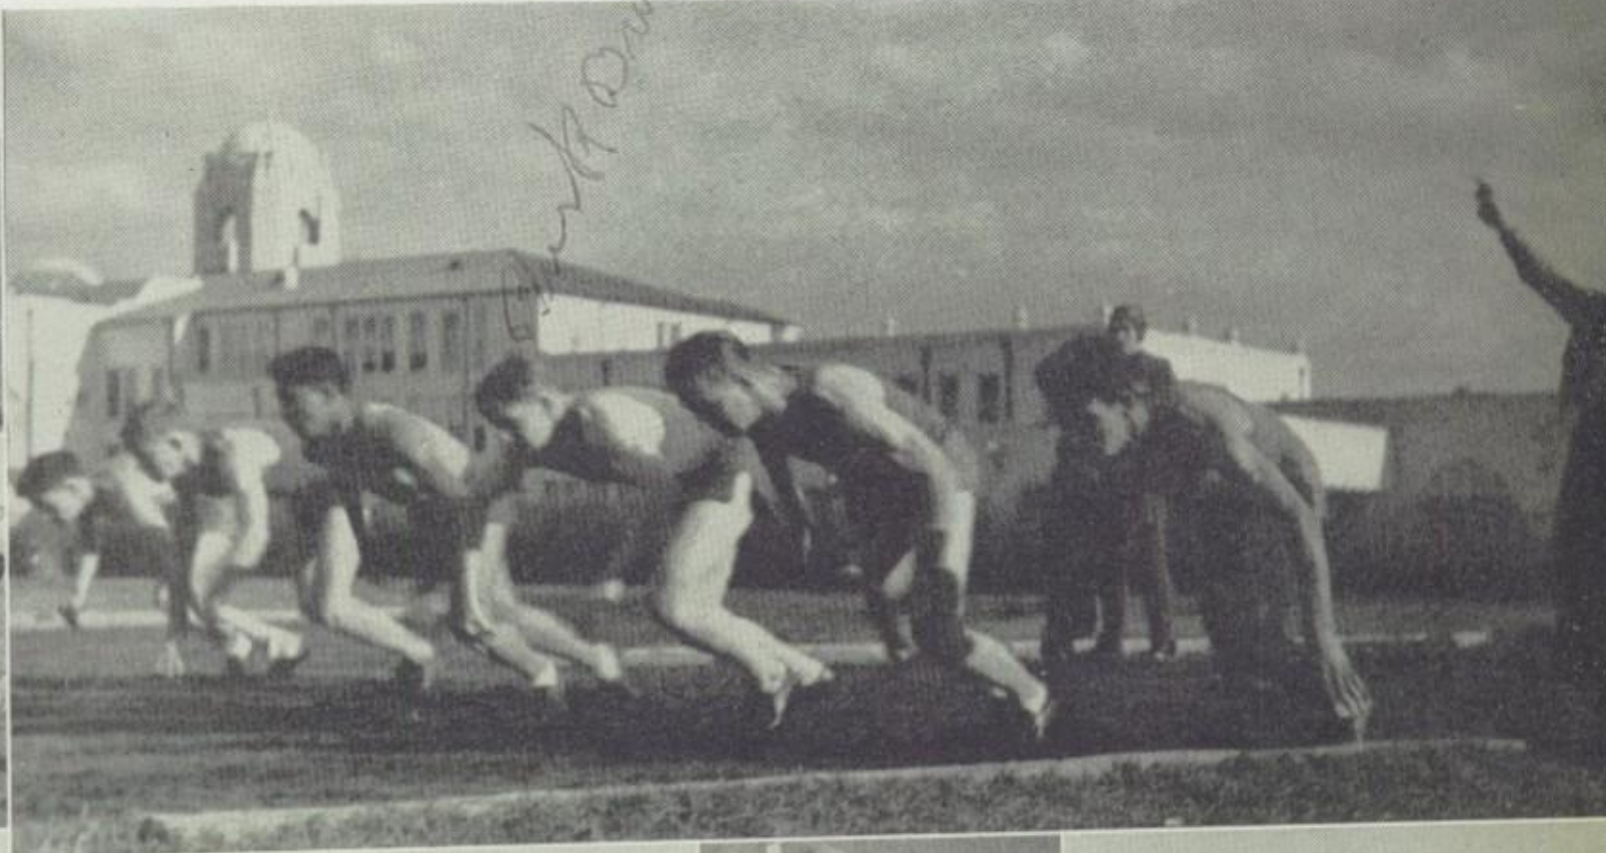

Rolling up a score of 70-54, the Ponies defeated Edison in a dual meet March 16 at Jefferson. Fraser starred for the Mustangs, winning first in the 880, running second in the 220, and being on the mile relay team. Simmang broke the javelin mark with a throw of 157 feet.

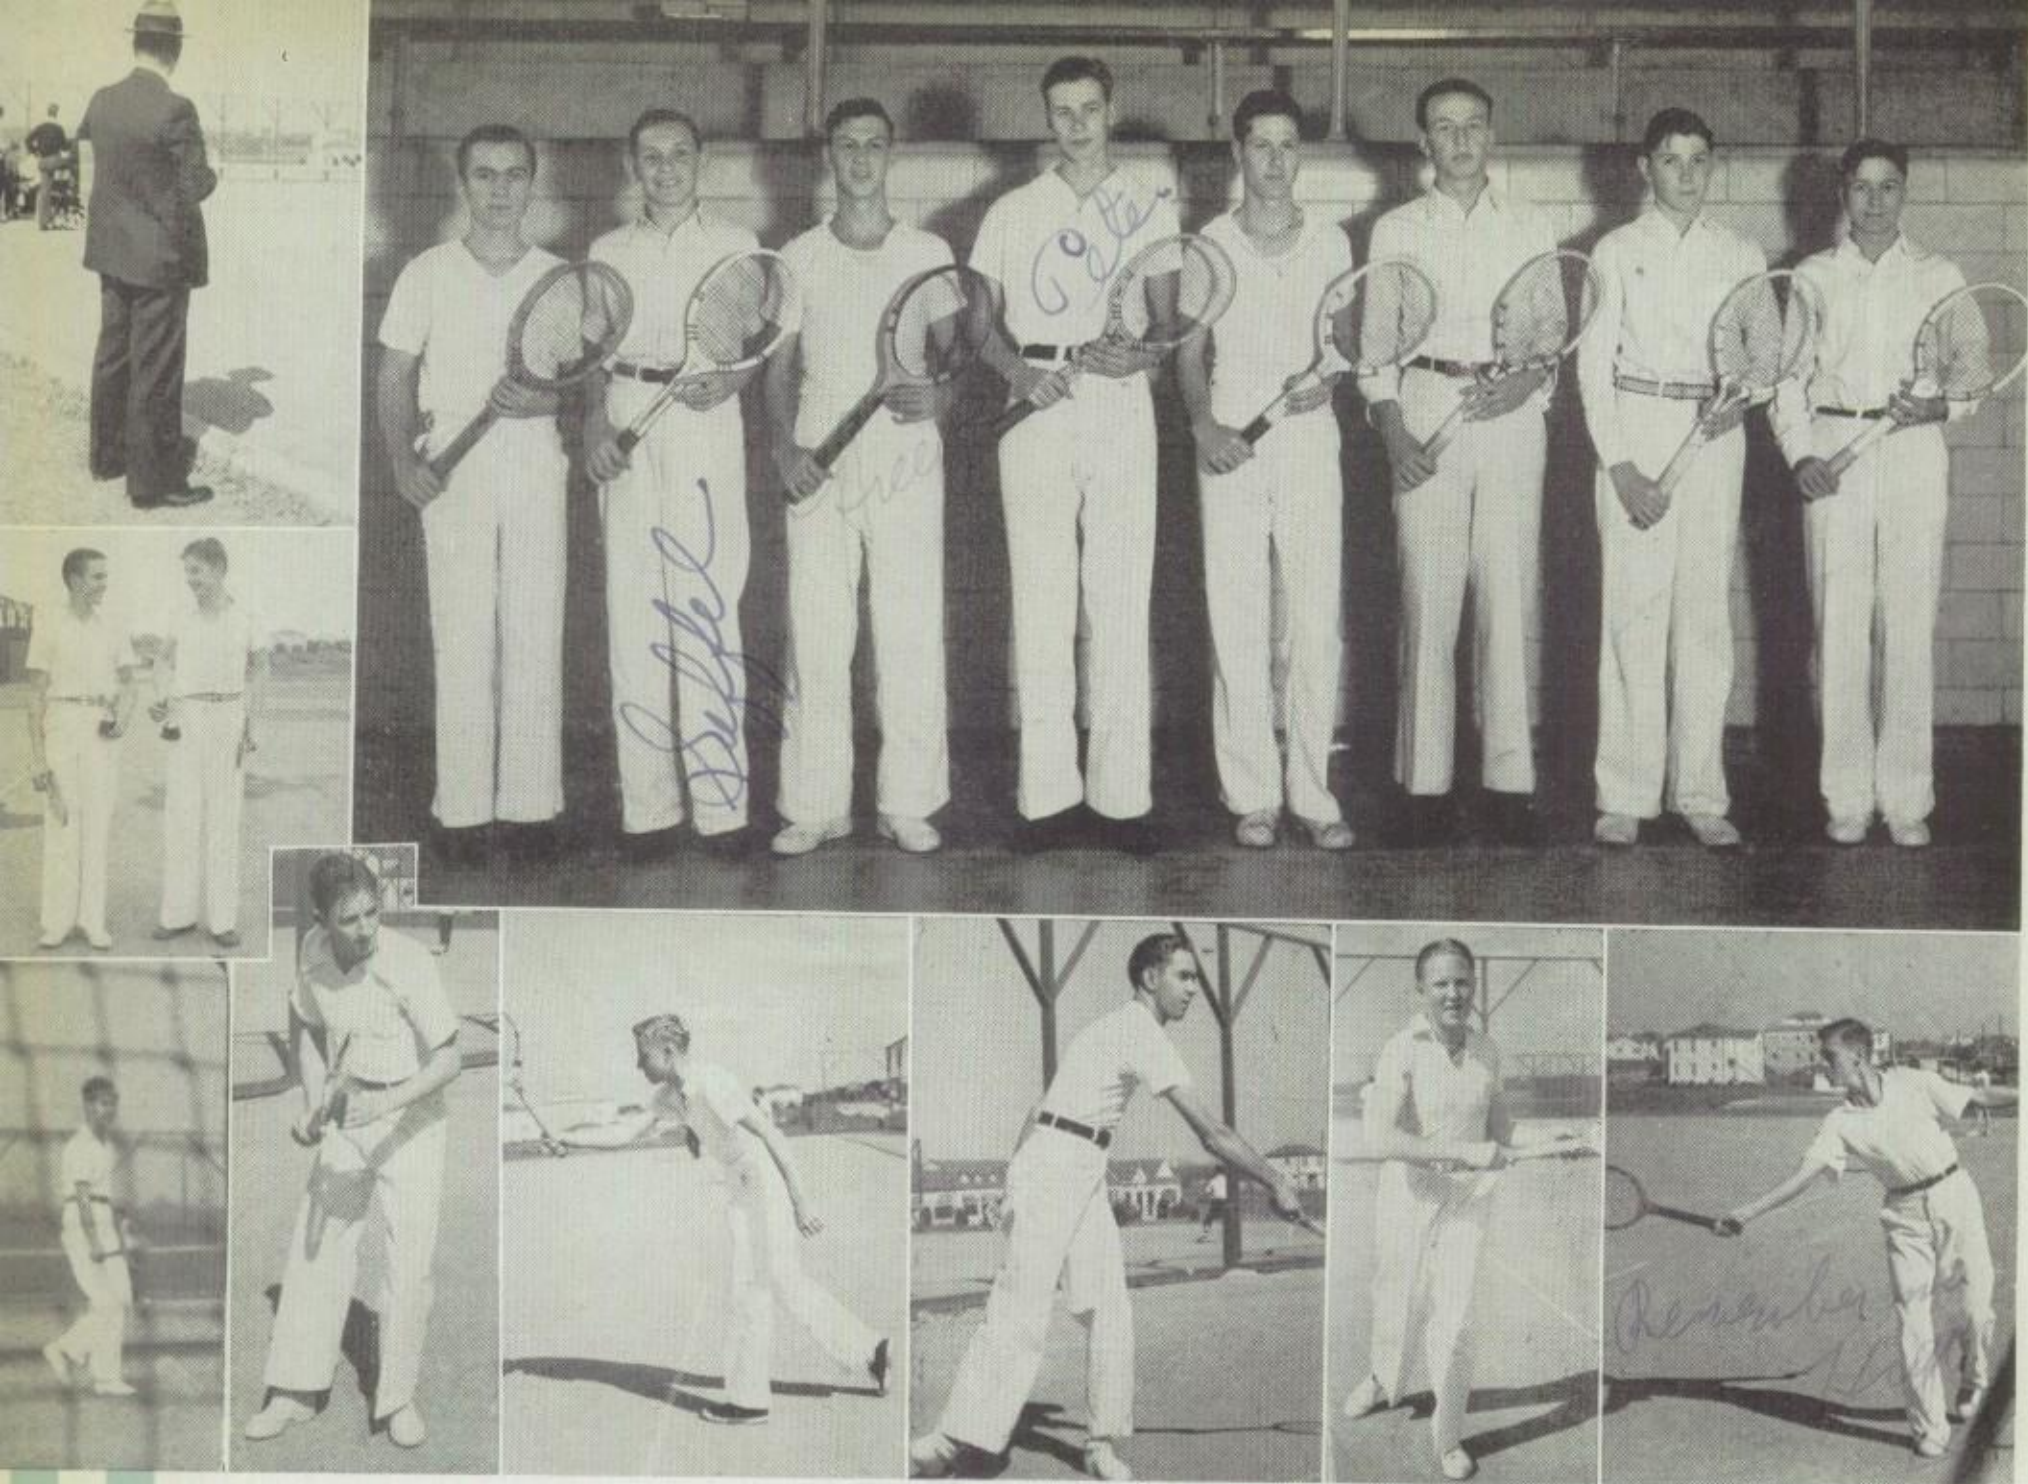

Jefferson won the city track meet with a total of 66 points, including seven first places — the sixth time the Ponies have attained this honor in the six years since Jefferson was started as a school.

On April 27 Jefferson won the district meet for the fourth consecutive time. Records fell that day. Jeff totaled 31 points against 29 and 22 for Brackenridge and Tech. Joe Bartlett's first in the 120 yard high-hurdles at 16.9 and his second in the 220 yard high-hurdles gave him eight points and won for the school high point honor.

Only by winning the mile relay did Jefferson add the winning of the Fiesta Meet to her laurel crown, our 21 points being very little above the Eagle's 18 and Tech's 17. Coach Cecil Burnett has now held his high record for nine consecutive years.

Tennis

The Jefferson tennis teams have made an enviable record so far this year, and the prospects are bright for future matches. As early as October 7, the boys had responded to the desire to swing their rackets.

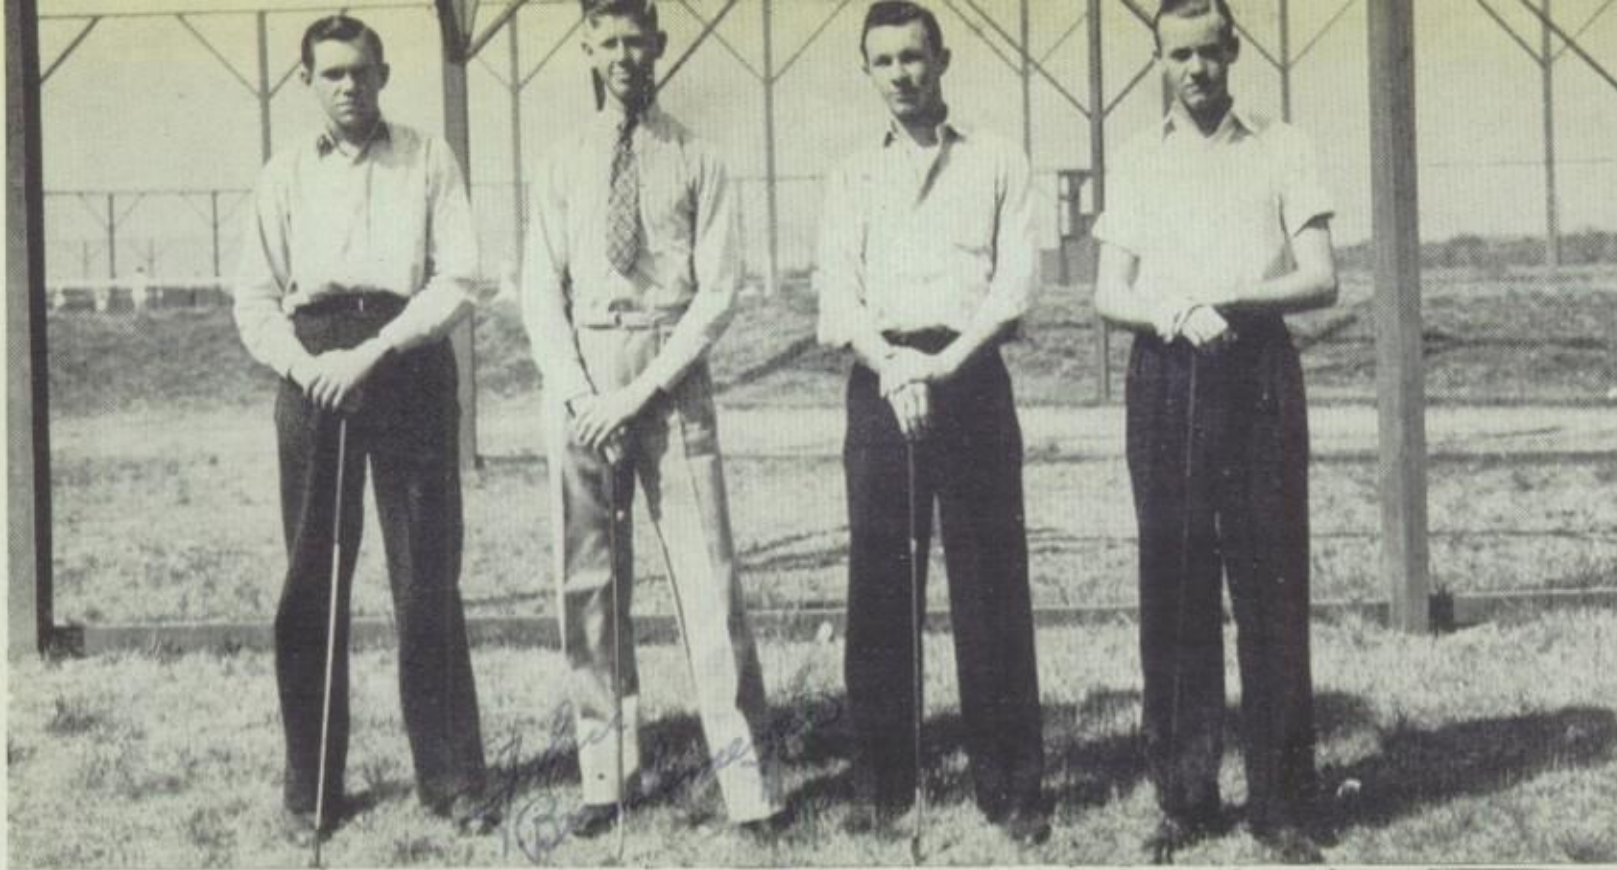

By defeating Glenn Hewitt of Houston, Tom Nixon won the State tennis championship in Fort Worth on August 16. Nixon also holds several Country Club records as well as Municipal Tournament records.

On March 13 Pearsall played matches at Jefferson, Jefferson taking every one.

On March 20 the Mustang racketeers defeated the Kerrville netters 7-0 on Jefferson courts.

On April 10 James Walthall, number one man of Jefferson's team, defeated Dean Yancy, last year's number one man in the matches played with San Marcos Teachers' College on Jefferson's courts. Other winners were Ben Nixon, Cordts, and Kinser.

Jefferson's prospects look very bright in tennis.

Golf

Mr. T. A. Abbott, Jefferson golf instructor, has performed his task well in giving Jefferson such a splendid golf team. On February 18 San Antonio Junior College dropped the Jefferson male golfers $7\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{1}{2}$ at Willow Springs. Bill Thurmond was low with a 76 in this meeting, but Jimmie Chasey, Darrell Rumpf, and John Brinkmeyer lost close decisions to their opponents.

Jefferson's golf team trounced Kerrville's golfsters on March 27 at Kerrville by a score of 11-4.

Betty Jameson retained her women's city championship with brilliant playing on April 16 at Willow Springs. This remarkable high school girl is State and City Champion in golf, also runner-up for the National Championship of Mexico.

Jefferson has high hopes of retaining the city golf championship, which our golf team won last year. Leading names in golf are Betty Jameson, Jimmie Chasey, Bill Thurmond, John Brinkmeyer, Darrell Rumpf.

Boys' Classes and Intramurals

Boys' physical education, in the hands of four instructors, offers a wide field of sports: tennis, basketball, touch football, and handball in the fall; handball, tumbling, boxing, softball, tennis, and golf in the spring. The gym classes and intramural work are in the hands of Mr. Hollis Schulz. Sophomores are given special instructions in skills; juniors and seniors have similar instructions, but they put in more time in actual play. Tournaments are fostered in the different sports, and winning teams are awarded letters. Four hundred boys not participating on athletic teams were reached by intramural activities.

Boxing with 52 entrants had 8 champions: Yantis, Howard, Reeves, Davilla, Newton, Worrell, Evins and Springer.

Tennis tournament singles with 32 entries were won by Burr Sullivan.

Touch football with 10 teams was won by Health Education 3A, captained by Thomas Casey. On January 5 the Senate advanced to the finals by defeating the 4A gym class. At the final gun the score stood 6 to 6, but the game was awarded to the Senators on penetrations. Early in the first half Bob Gulley scored for the Senate from the nineteen-yard stripe on a wide end scamper behind perfect blocking. Jowdy's long touchdown run in the first period was called back on a penalty, but in the closing minutes he snagged another aerial to cross the goal for an official score. On January 25 the Senate met its Waterloo, being defeated by the class 3A team, 3A's record being kept clean with four wins, no defeats, and one tie. The breaks were against the Senators throughout the entire game. The final standing of the touch football teams in the American league was as follows: 3A — won three, lost none, and tied none; Senate — won two, lost one, tied none; Outlaws — won one, lost one, tied one; 5B — won one, lost two, tied none. The tournament began with the sound of the whistle on October 15. The two leagues that participated used the round robin style of eliminating. Entries, which closed on October 13, were open to the clubs and R. O. T. C. companies. All rules and regulations were kept posted on the bulletin board. Thus our season opened with a grand start. It was climaxed with a bang-up game between 4A and 5B. Patterson and Guel-dner played good ball for 4A, making nine and eight points respectively, while Eastman and Rose stood out for the losers in this thrilling game for our ardent fans. After the scores of the entire season had been totaled, Pat-terson was found to have the highest record.

Handball doubles with 18 teams were won by Peter Hennessey and Carl Yantis. These games were played on the four new handball courts, the completion of which has made our sports field complete in every detail.

Girls' Classes and Intramurals

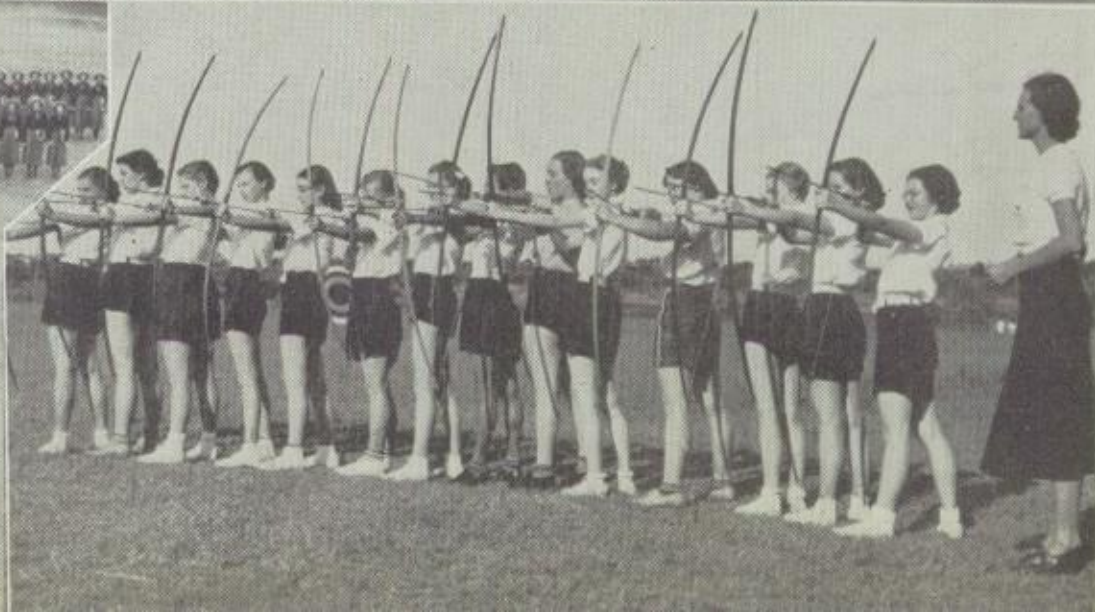

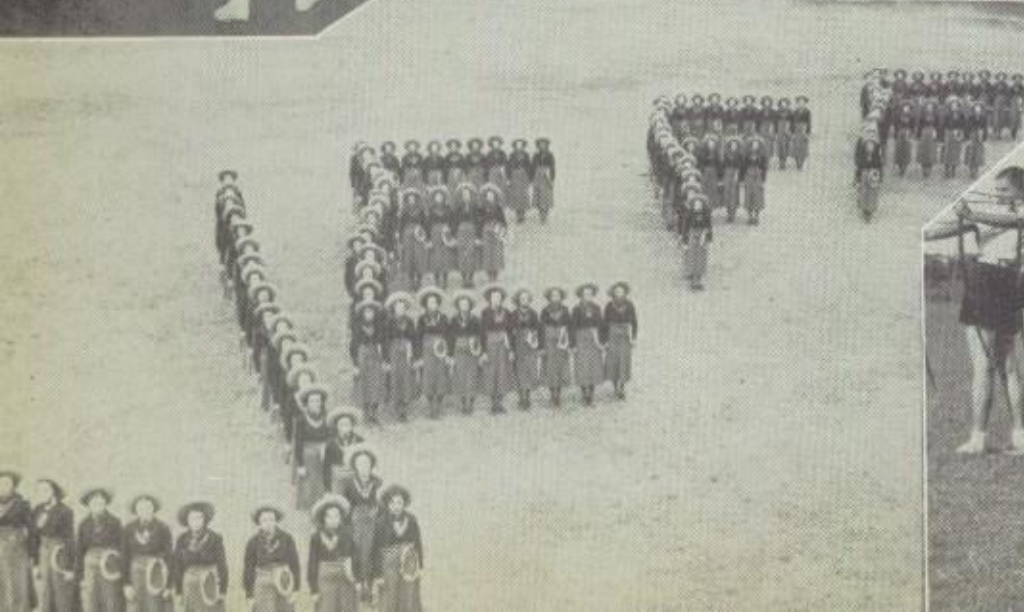

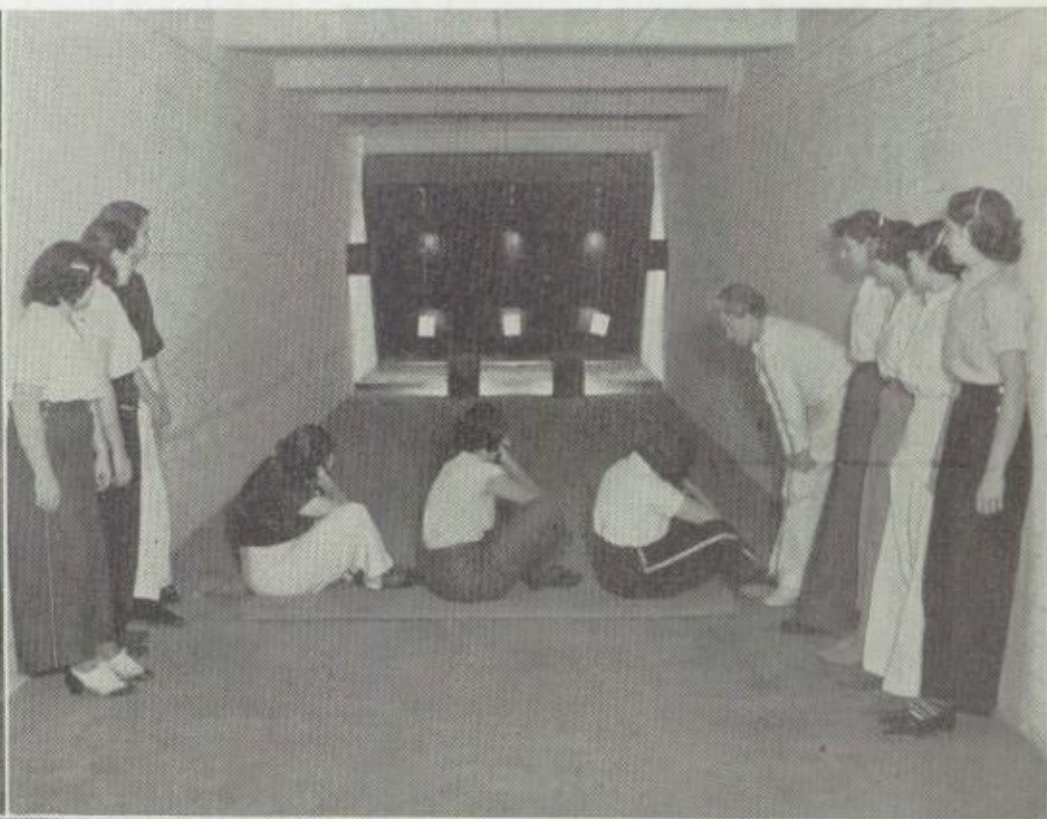

Through each of the six periods of the day Jefferson girls enjoy one hour of various sports, to which the keenness of intramural competition is added. Miss Bess Richards and Miss Rowena Holliday instruct them in these sports: tennis, golf, archery, tumbling, dancing, riflery, basketball, volleyball, and baseball. Trophies are awarded to the winning teams in each sport.

The most outstanding girls in basketball put forth long hours of sincere training during the last days of October. On November 3 the first and second sophomore teams in girls' intramural basketball were chosen. The captains of the two teams were Irene Waldeck and Kathryn Stence. At the close of a thrilling and brilliant sports season, team number one proved to be victorious over team number two. The excellent playing of Irene Waldeck and Doris Mae Barnes will long be remembered by all who attended the game.

Each afternoon at the fifth period the armory became an interesting spot for sports fans when Miss Richards and Captain McShane guided our girls in the art of riflery. They were taught the prone position and the standing position. Early in the spring the winner of the intramural riflery contest was presented with a gold medal. The six outstanding marksmen of the year included Horice Mosley, Mary Elizabeth Sewell, Glory Henning, Alice Lee Roberts, Helen Samuels and Virginia Niblo.

Even surpassing the record of our fine rifle team were our volley-ball activities. On January 19 Dorothy Allsup's team beat Jean Nash's in two games of ball by scores of 15-5 and 15-9. Among the outstanding players in this sport were Margaret Basse, Margie Hay, Peggy Martin, Helen Zalmanzig, Marjorie Gilliam, Tansill Moore and Willette Aikin.

As an interesting diversion in the days' activities, the fifth period class fostered intramural dance contests. "The Sampson Clog," a very intricate dance because of tricky footwork and muscle coordination, won first place. The "Buck and Wing" and "Jack Frost" were two other favorites of the contest. Outstanding dancers included Marie Holland, Lottie Cates, Virginia Vaughn, Elizabeth Biggs, Mary Virginia Thompson, Maebelle Robertson and Marian Brockhausen.

This year's archery season has been one of the most successful seasons Jefferson girls have ever experienced. In the finals the following girls made records: Margaret Gittinger, Margaret Basse, Janice Howard, Pauline Legg, Constance Marmur, Elizabeth Atkins, Edna Bee Jones, Constance Pack, Betty Rae Davis, Amanda Lee Hurst, Jean Ames, Lucille Bush and June Rose Woinowsk.

In golf the girls have been taught to judge distance and proper drives by Miss Richards, assisted by Jefferson's own Betty Jameson, famous holder of city and state golf championships, also runner-up in the National Golf Tournament of Mexico.

Marjorie Buschman and Patricia Scott demonstrate "how it's done" to the second period dancing class. . . . An enjoyable game of volleyball on a cold and rainy day. . . . Girls' Tennis Team: Jean Graham, Miriam Moon (city champion, singles), Jean Gaines, Mildred Benke, Effie May Russell (Captain), Ailene Hall, Bess Richards (Coach), Maurine Hall, La Rue Melton, Verna Mae Goleman, Pauline Means and Jerry Busby. . . . Betty Jameson, State Women's Golf Champion, with a few of her golf trophies of the past five years.

ELECTRICITY

*..... increased in Value
..... decreased in Cost*

Electricity is a far more valuable service today than five years ago, more valuable because it is more useful. It operates more and better electrical appliances in home and business. It does more and does it more quickly and more efficiently. Even the standard of service is improved.

And Electric Service costs less than ever before

Take advantage of this daily bargain.

Enjoy more of its modern benefits.

AN IDEA

EXPERIENCE

REALITY

IDEAS, born in the minds of yearbook staff members, can become REALITIES within the pages of a finished book only through the competent guidance of those who have EXPERIENCE in the field of yearbook production. Realizing this fact, editors and managers of college and high school annuals have been, for more than a quarter of a century, employing, and profiting by, the experienced service, distinctive art creations and "PRINT TESTED PLATES" offered by SOUTHWESTERN ENGRAVING COMPANY.

SWECO EXPERIENCE assures your IDEAS of becoming REALITIES even greater than anticipated.

Smith, It really has been fun knowing you all of these years in good old "Y". I can remember when you and I were in Agnes Cotton together. Can you? I hope you have all the success and happiness that you deserve which is as much as you could expect.

Lots of love

 I wish you all the success, luck, and happiness in the world.
 Don't forget your true friend - if there's anything
 I can do - let me know.

Smith,

I'm sure glad that we are fraternity brothers because you are really a keen fellow. Come back and visit our meetings often.

Mustang Chant

Thomas Jefferson! Thomas Jefferson!
I know you of old.

You rob your opponents of touchdowns and goals

You block them you tackle them,
you cause them to moan

I'm a Jeff booster and
Santone's my home.

We're up in the grandstand with flags in our hands

We'll root for you, Jeff High from our own grandstands.

We'll back you, we'll help you,
we'll cause you to win

I'm a Jeff booster and
Santone's my home.

If grandstands were mountains
and I were a bird,

I'd fly to the top just to give a good word

But grandstands aren't mountains,
and I am no bird

So I'll yell for the Mustangs and try to be heard.

Dearest Louis.

Ge. guy. I think you are a swell boy and have really enjoyed knowing you. I hope you won't run off somewhere and hide from me. Please don't!

That's all the luck in the world to a good old boy. You deserve it. More than I can give you.

Lots of love,
